

SHERMAN RECALLS GRANT'S HISTORY

SAYS GREAT GENERAL SIMPLY ALLOWED USE OF NAME FOR THIRD TERM

Had no Further Political Ambition—American People Cling Firmly to Traditions Against Third Terms—American Banquet at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 27.—That General U. S. Grant had no further political ambition, but was dragged into allowing the use of his name for a third term by party leaders and that the Chicago convention of 1880 clearly established the attitude of the American people toward the traditions of the fathers, was the declaration of the vice-president of the United States, James S. Sherman, who was the principal speaker here tonight at the Grant Day banquet of the American Republic club.

The vice-president asserted that General Grant was lured into the grievous blunder of his life, but that devotion to Republican principles prevailed at this convention and the famous hero went down to defeat in the house of his friends.

Besides the vice-president, the speakers were Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, whose topic was "The American Republic," Congressman E. M. Nye of Minnesota, who spoke on "The Republican Leaders," and Congressman E. D. Crumpacker of Indiana, who addressed his remarks to "The Republican Party."

The vice-president said in part: "Grant lived in and adorned an heroic era of our country. He acted upon an august stage in a conflict of unsurpassed significance to mankind. He rose to the requirements of every varied test, and shed brilliance on events and acts. The force whom he conquered have become his glowing eulogists. The decades have silenced his bitter critics. Supreme as he was as a conqueror, as a peacemaker he was no less eminent, and in the combined merits parallels are rare in the records of human glory. Minute analysis of his mind, his deeds, his achievements does not benefit this occasion and would waste away the hours. Beyond compare in the annals of men, General Grant's attitude at Appomattox is the perfect flower of mercy, generosity and magnanimity. It was this white dove of peace, combined with the eagles of war, which laid the presidency at his feet."

The Chicago convention of 1880 set forth clearly how strongly the American people cling to the wise traditions of the fathers. General Grant was content with the popular favor accorded him and had no further political ambition. Certain party leaders, however, dragged him into allowing the use of his name as a candidate for a third presidential term. Seemingly he was lured into the grievous blunder of his life. The minority of 306 on the convention roll by no means included all the admirers of the warrior-statesman. The safeguard against permanence in executive authority was devised to override personal regard and esteem and forbade compliance with individual desire. Devotion to the Republican principle prevailed and the famous hero went down to defeat in the house of his friends.

The opponents of a third term for Grant never charged that he strained or tried to add to the power of the executive. Congress and the judiciary suffered no assault from him. His loyalty to the Constitution and the laws was absolute; too absolute ever to be questioned. He did not deem himself the sole reliance of a Caesar or a Cromwell was not within him. No greed for despotism led him astray. He raised no irreverent hand against the altar of the national sanctuary, its constitution and its courts. He aroused no mad confusion or chaos. His mad desire for power did not smother in him the high attributes of consistency, constancy and fairness. He was an architect of concord, not discord. He was quiet and content, not bolterous and discordant. Yet, even for him, the precept and example of Washington could not be spurned by the American people.

Shall we for a moment or two give thought to what all this signifies in the affairs of day? The danger of any approach to permanence in executive authority was emphasized by Washington, and Jefferson repeated the warning. By long-time custom and by almost universal opinion of the thoughtful of the past, wisdom limits presidential service to eight years. Save only with President Hayes, who forbade consideration of his name for a second term, the Republican party has tendered to its president's re-nomination. The wisdom of this act has been demonstrated with Lincoln, Grant and McKinley. President Taft has not fallen behind any predecessor in fidelity, efficiency, constancy and force. He has done no juggling, has practiced no deception, has sought no personal advantage. He has enforced the laws, has respected constitutional government, has been the advocate of stability. His administration has been consistent for honesty, economy and real progress. The parallel of his case with Lincoln and Grant is striking and prophetic. And as the harmonious acclaim of the people in 1864 and 1872 sounded above discordant snarling of discontent and disappointed ambition, so in 1912 the discerning American electorate will again call into power, to guard and guide the nation's destinies for

JUDGE CARTER DEFENDS COURTS

CHICAGO JURIST OPPOSED TO INROADS UPON JUDICIAL AUTHORITY.

Fundamental Principles of Justice Are to Prevent Decisions by Whim—Banquet Concludes Meeting of Bar Association.

Chicago, April 27.—Chief Justice Orrin N. Carter of the supreme court of Illinois tonight in his address at the annual meeting of the State Bar association affirmed the propriety of courts passing on the validity of legislation and opposed any inroads on the authority of courts as they now stand.

"The Courts and Unconstitutional Law" was the title of his address. "The very purpose of a written constitution is to guard against quick and hurried decisions as to the rights of a few over the many," he said. "Our forefathers in setting down in bills of rights and written constitutions the fundamental principles of justice, were not attempting to thwart the will of the people, but were trying to prevent a decision of questions by mere whim or caprice. The belief that courts cannot be made sufficiently progressive without removing the restraints of the constitution is born of impatience and haste."

The banquet at which Justice Carter spoke concluded the meeting of the bar association. The day session was featured by a spirited debate over a resolution offered by Judge Marcus Kavanaugh of the superior court of Cook county, declaring that the supreme and appellate courts should not reverse decisions because of trivial errors. A second session declared for oral instructions to juries.

Half a dozen vigorous speeches were made, the speakers declaring that Judge Kavanaugh's resolution assumed that the state supreme court had been in the habit of reversing decisions on trivial grounds. This Judge Kavanaugh disclaimed. All the speakers extolled the supreme court and the resolutions were laid on the table and then referred to the committee on law reform.

Delay, expense and instability of judgments were the greater evils of litigation under present rules, according to Edgar B. Tolman, chairman of the law reform committee. He declared in his address today that they could largely be eliminated by co-operation between bench and bar without recourse to legislation. The legislature, he said, however, should be appealed to to eliminate nine-tenths of the present rules of procedure.

In the matter of concession of cases he made an exception in favor of the Illinois supreme court, saying that it was one appellate tribunal in which there was little delay.

CHANGE IN COURT POWERS

Judiciary Committee Reports Favorably on Bill.

Washington, April 27.—The judiciary committee of the house today reported favorably a bill that would make important changes in the power of the court to punish for contempt in cases where its orders or decrees are not obeyed. The prosecutor will file a formal charge showing reasonable cause before action can be taken by courts would give to the offender the opportunity to clear himself, and would afford him opportunity for a jury trial except where contempt has been actually committed in the presence of the court.

Strong protests were made before the judiciary committee against any legislation limiting the power of the courts in the trial of contempt cases; but the committee has decided that such legislation would be constitutional, and is desirable.

TAFT AT TRENTON.

President Was Given Warm Reception by Taft Association.

Trenton, N. J., April 27.—President Taft, upon his arrival here this afternoon from Newark, was given a reception by the William H. Taft association not this city at the Republican club and a number of persons met and shook hands with the president. The president made no speech. After the reception he told the members of the committee having the reception in charge that it was a pleasure to take part in an affair of the kind without being required to make a speech. He was the first president to visit Trenton, according to local historians, since President Monroe paid a call here in 1817.

CHALLENGED ROOSEVELT.

Muskogee, Okla., April 27.—Former Governor Haskell of Oklahoma today addressed a letter to Col. Roosevelt, challenging him to a joint debate in this state, the city and day to be named by Roosevelt.

another four years, William Howard Taft.

The forefathers saw that the changing conditions wrought by time might require amendments to the Constitution. The methods to that end were carefully defined. Legislation and administration are not the whims of fashion like milliners' bonnets; they cannot be wisely directed by the fickle passion of the passing moment. American history gives assurance that the country of Washington, Lincoln and Grant will not go mad, but will be true to its heritage and to its obligations to the future of humanity.

MONEY POSITION GIVEN BY TITANIC

NEAR VESSELS MISSED BY IN-ACCURATE FIGURES.

Great Fields of Ice Also Prove Barrier in Lending Assistance—Penniless Sailor Witnesses Given Funds—Pathetic Story of Straus.

Washington, April 27.—Failure to give her exact position, a great field of floating ice that offered a frigid barrier to ships hurrying to the rescue and the mistake of her own captain in rushing at top speed through an ice covered sea—all these combined to send the Titanic and her 1,600 victims to their watery grave in the north Atlantic. This was strongly indicated today in testimony before the senate committee investigating the ocean tragedy. Captain James H. Moore of the Steamer Mount Temple which was hurried to the Titanic in response to wireless calls for help, told of the great stretch of field ice which held him off. Within his view from the bridge he discerned, he said, another strange steamer, probably a "ramp" and a schooner which was making her way out of the ice. The lights of this schooner he thought probably were those seen by the anxious survivors of the Titanic and which they were frantically trying to reach.

At Too Fast a Speed. Captain Moore denounced as "most unwise" the action of the Titanic's commander in rushing at 21 knots through the night when he had been advised of the proximity of the ice. The Mount Temple's commander testified that he had spent 27 years in the north Atlantic. Whenever ice was around, he said, he doubted his watch and reduced speed and if he happened to get caught in an ice pack he stopped his engines and drifted until he was clear. The witness also was emphatic in his declaration that the position sent out by the Titanic was wrong. He said the ship was eight miles further eastward than its operators reported. This, he declared, he proved by observations taken the first thing on the day following the disaster.

With what virtually was a fleet of steamers within a radius of fifty miles of the Titanic, the officer said that this mistake in fixing accurately the position of the doomed ship was a fatal one. With icebergs and floating ice covering the northern sea, a ship of even the size of the Titanic might well be overlooked through such a variance.

ISMAI MOORE CHEERFUL.

J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine Co., was much cheered by the testimony of the afternoon. Throughout the work he has had a troubled look and during the long daily sessions he has sat silent, seldom speaking to his associates who accompanied him. Today, however, he listened eagerly to the accounts of his conduct at the lifeboats as told by the stewards and seamen who came into contact with him on the night of the disaster. His eyes fairly beamed when one of the stewards told how he had called for women to go in one of the boats and had said to a woman who told him she was a stewardess, "you are a woman, take your place in the boat."

Ismay listened intently, too, as the stewardess testified that he had not left the ship until after all the lifeboats had gone and only one of two collapsible boats were left on deck. When one of the stewards told how he had called for women to go in one of the boats and had said to a woman who told him she was a stewardess, "you are a woman, take your place in the boat."

SAILORS GIVEN MONEY.

"If it is too late to get money for the sailors," Mr. Ismay declared, "I can see that it is advanced." Finally assistant Sergeant at Arms Cornelius found a way to cheer the hearts of the sailors and they were escorted to the capitol in a body and advanced money. This made them a happy lot.

P. A. S. Franklin, vice-president of the marine company, left for New York today to return Monday. Mr. Ismay did not leave, although Senator Smith told him he was free to go anywhere he pleased, provided he reported in Washington Monday morning.

"I am not going to New York," Mr. Ismay said tonight, "but I am going to rest tomorrow. I am not going to tell where but I will be here Monday."

The committee has not yet released any of the British members of the Titanic crew of officers though all now have given testimony. Some of them will be released next week. Officer Boxhall is still in here, but probably will be recovered sufficiently to take

SATURDAY IN CONGRESS.

Senate.

Not in session. Titanic investigation continued. Captain James H. Moore of steamer Mount Temple testified of his efforts to reach Titanic.

House.

Met at 10:30 a. m. Resumed consideration of postoffice appropriations bill. Representative Langley reported to Representative Campbell's attack on Col. Roosevelt. Judiciary committee reported favorably a bill to make important changes in power of courts to punish for contempt. Passed senate joint resolution for the immediate appropriation of $1,500,000 for rebuilding and repair of levees on Mississippi and tributaries. Adjourned at 5:03 p. m. until noon Monday.

TAFT PAID TRIBUTE TO U. S. GRANT

Eulogized the Life and Work of the Famous General and President.

Philadelphia, April 27.—President Taft paid tribute to the memory of the illustrious family of Grant, here tonight.

In New York yesterday he attended memorial exercises for Major General Frederick D. Grant and tonight at a banquet of the Union League club he eulogized that soldier's famous father, who was twice president of the United States and to whom many historians give much of the credit for the north's successful conduct of the civil war. The president's familiarity with General Grant's career and deeds made the subject an easy one for him to deal with, and he reviewed with friendly hand the life of one of this nation's greatest soldiers. He aimed to make his address without a tinge of politics and carefully planned to avoid any discussion of current topics. Governor Tener of Pennsylvania, Mayor Blankenship and C. Stuart Patterson of Philadelphia were the other speakers on the program.

President Taft came to Philadelphia from Trenton by special train. From the Broad Street station he was escorted immediately to the Union League club, where he dedicated that club's new assembly hall, held a reception for members and reviewed the First Brigade, Pennsylvania National Guard.

Leaving here late tonight he is due in Washington early tomorrow.

FOR LINCOLN HIGHWAY.

Joliet, Ill., April 27.—Senator F. W. Jones of Chicago and his wife, who is chairman of the finance committee of the Women's Good Roads association, have arrived in this city for the purpose of working up an interest in the "Lincoln Highway." The memorial planned is to be constructed from Joliet to St. Louis, with connections leading to every county seat in the state. Two million dollars have recently been appropriated by congress for a Lincoln memorial, and President Taft and the Lincoln Memorial Commission have been given the power to decide as to the nature of the memorial. The commission are said to favor the good road scheme, and no doubt if the residents of the state show a strong desire for this kind of a memorial, the road will be built.

ADJ. WALKER WILL SPEAK.

Adjutant Walker of Kansas City, formerly commanding officer of the Salvation Army in this city, will preach this evening at the Army barracks on East College street.

One of the most pathetic stories of the hearing was that relating to Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Straus, told by Alfred Crawford, a steward. He said he assisted in loading No. 5 boat and then went to No. 8.

In this latter boat Mrs. Straus had placed her maid and had passed a rug to her, Crawford said.

"She was about to get in herself when suddenly she turned, put her arms around her husband's neck and said: 'We've been all these years together; where you go I will go.' She refused to get in." There was an impressive pause at this. The woman in the audience stirred in sympathy and some wept. Crawford also told of having seen the lights of another ship as he left the Titanic to row a lifeboat. Captain Smith saw the lights and pointing toward them told Crawford, the latter said, to pull for them.

Crawford said the mysterious ship could not have been more than ten miles off. He was positive it was a steamer, he said, and a number of others in his boat were equally positive. When dawn came, the Carpathia came and they did not look for the vessel, he declared, adding that a cursory glance failed to discover it.

Steward Etches related an incident of Mr. Ismay's conduct during the crisis. He said Mr. Ismay and third officer Pitman assisted him in launching No. 7 boat.

"Mr. Ismay called out 'men form a line and let the ladies through,'" said Etches.

"How many men went in No. 7?" asked Senator Smith.

"Three, to man the boat, sir," said the witness.

"A female came along," said the witness, "just before the boat was lowered and Mr. Ismay called to her to get in. 'I'm only a stewardess, sir,' she said, and Mr. Ismay replied, 'It makes no difference, you're a woman. Take your place in the boat.' The woman came away with us, sir."

KILLS FATHER TO SAVE MOTHER

CONFESSION OF 17 YEARS OLD SON FOR MURDER.

Self-Confessed Prisoner Inflicts Death With Automatic Rifle While Parent Sits in Kitchen—Son in Act of Buying Auto When Arrested.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 27.—Protesting that he killed his father to save his mother and that his sister, Mabel, 16 years old, knew nothing of the crime, A. L. Wayman, 17 years old, according to Sheriff Nease, confessed late today that John Wayman met death at his hands in their home near Indianola, Iowa, last night.

Young Wayman was taken to Indianola this afternoon to face the charge of murder.

Wayman and his sister were taken into custody while the former was arranging to purchase an automobile. The girl was returned to Indianola with her brother. She said she knew nothing of the crime, except that her father was dead, but she did not believe her brother killed him.

She appears to be young than the age she gave to the police. "Somebody killed my papa," she said to the sheriff on the way to the jail and then talked incoherently of the murder, while she was in a pasture milking cows. "The self-confessed prisoner, according to the sheriff, declared that his father had struck his mother, severely injuring her, and had threatened to kill her. He said a brother of his mother gave him the automatic rifle with which the shooting was done."

Last night after my father, my sister and myself had eaten supper, I went out to milk the cows. "When I was allowed to leave," she said, "I had finished this I returned to the house and shot at my father through the kitchen door. He fell at the first shot and died instantly. My sister and I hid under a table and drove to Des Moines. She had nothing to do with the killing."

TORNADO SWEEPS SOUTHERN STATES

Thirty Reported Dead and Great Destruction of Property Follows in Wake of Storm.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 27.—Thirty-one persons are reported to have been killed by a tornado that swept southwestern Oklahoma and the south-western corner of the Texas Panhandle late today. A dozen towns were struck and farming communities suffered.

It is impossible to confirm the reports of loss of life or to accurately estimate the property damage.

The greatest loss of life reported is at Lugert, where it is said fifteen persons were killed.

A special train sent from Altus with physicians and nurses, picked up ten injured persons and returned to Altus. Two of these, Mrs. Lee Stansand and Miss Eva Stansand, died on the train. The tornado started just across the Texas border and killed seven persons at Kirkland, Texas, demolished thirty buildings and slew a Rock Island work train from the track. Tearing on northward the storm struck Ector, Okla., killing four. Calumet, Edling and Lugert, Rocky, where the town is ruins, Warren, Martha, Yukon, Blair and Lone Wolf.

At each of these places many persons were hurt. Several of these towns are cut off from communication tonight. What is believed to be the tail of the storm destroyed several buildings at Muhall, 50 miles north of Oklahoma City, so far as known there were no casualties here.

FOURTEEN REPORTED DEAD.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 27.—Fourteen persons are reported to have been killed by a tornado that swept through the southwestern corner of Oklahoma and the southeastern part of the Panhandle of Texas late today. At Eldorado four men were killed, a woman and her three children, at Calumet three were killed and in Childress county, Texas, several lives were lost. Communication facilities are paralyzed and confirmation of all reports was impossible tonight.

ARBITRATION OF STRIKE.

New York, April 27.—Both sides having agreed to arbitration, the belief was expressed tonight by participants in the conference this week with the government representatives that threatened strike of engineers has been averted.

SACRIFICES LIFE FOR BABY.

Barry, Wis., April 27.—Fatally mangled by a train near here today, Mrs. Ida Corbin of Reserve, Wis., saving her baby by tossing it from her arms to one side of the track of the Soo line, the instant that engine struck her and inflicted injuries which she died in a half hour.

AN IMPERIAL DECREE.

Constantinople, April 27.—An imperial decree has been issued sanctioning the decision of the council of ministers to expel Italians from Constantinople on account of the recent attack by Italian warships on forts in the dardanelles.

CATCHER MURPHY RELEASED.

St. Louis, April 27.—Catcher Mike Murphy was released tonight to the Dallas, Texas, team by the St. Louis American league baseball club.

TITANIC'S DEAD ARRIVES TODAY

Arrangements Made at Halifax for Taking Care of Bodies—Unidentified Bodies Will Go to Morgue.

Halifax, N. S., April 27.—Under a heavy sky from which a drizzling rain descended Halifax today made final arrangements for receiving the Titanic's dead expected Monday on the cable ship Mackay-Bennett.

The so-called deck yard, otherwise a navy yard, has been reserved by the White Star Line for the unloading of the bodies and upon a stretch of pier ordinarily used for coaling, all that remains of John Jacob Astor, Eador Straus, Frank D. Millet, George D. Widener and many others will be placed in coffins for the inspection of relatives. Five tents to shield the dead have been erected on the pier more than two hundred pine coffins are piled nearby, and twenty wagons have been engaged to transport the bodies from the water front to the morgue, established in a curling rink.

The identified dead, especially the bodies of such prominent men as Col. Astor, Mr. Straus, President Hayes of the Grand Trunk, and others, will be taken directly to an undertaking shop, there to be placed in coffins and hurried from town by special car. The unidentified will go to the morgue to remain until claimed or, a fortnight having passed, to be buried in cemetery plots here which the steamship company has provided. Sentries and police will guard the entrances to the dock yard and will admit only those persons who come to identify the dead. Through the American consul arrangements have been made for the suspension of regulations governing the transfer of bodies to the United States.

SMALL PLACES WIPED OUT.

Great Havoc Wrought by Storm in South.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 27.—Many towns were in the path of the storm. In Oklahoma, Lugert, Altus, Martha, Eldorado, Calumet, Blair and Rocky were damaged, the latter a small place, being practically blown away. Many were injured when buildings were torn apart and pitched about by the wind. In Texas the storm played great havoc near Kirkland, where seven persons were killed. Thirty farm buildings were wrecked and a Rock Island work train of nine cars was blown from the track. The wind was accompanied by a veritable cloudburst, Kirkland reporting a fall of four inches within 35 minutes.

COUNTY COURT CASES.

In the county court Saturday the jury in the case of the Central Illinois Grain Co. vs. Charles Ashbaker, trespass on the case on promise, brought in a verdict in favor of Mr. Ashbaker. The grain company gave notice of an appeal. This case, it will be remembered, grew out of a corn deal. The company claimed that Mr. Ashbaker had sold them his corn and later refused to deliver it to them, thus causing them a loss of over $100,000. The advance price Mr. Ashbaker maintained that he had offered to haul the corn, but that the company could not accept it at that time and that therefore he was released from the contract to sell.

In the case of Elijah Riter vs. Ezekiel Edwards, involving a farm sale commission which was decided in favor of the complainant, the defendant gave notice of an appeal.

U. OF C. REGISTRARS AGAINST THE PLAN OF "BIG EIGHT."

Chicago, April 27.—University of Chicago authorities registered a protest today against the plans of the "big eight" faculty representatives for a new system of conference government that would defer athletic directors for the ranks of official delegates of the body. The action, which was taken at a meeting of the board of physical culture and athletics indicated the intention of the professors to stand solidly against the dropping of Coach Stagg from the committee.

The Chicago board re-affirmed its stand in favor of strict amateur standard in the conference in addition to turning down the recommendation against athletic directors. The work of the board will be referred to the entire faculty of the University which will vote on the recent recommendations at a special meeting a week from next Saturday. The Chicago decision will then be forwarded to the conference officers.

SWIMMING RECORD SMASHED.

Chicago, April 27.—More than four seconds were clipped off the previous time set for the 500 and 400 yard relay swims in records made by Illinois Athletic club swimmers in an inspection meet today. Their time for the 400 and 500 yards relay was 4:52.3-5 and 3:51.2-5, respectively.

Perry McGilivray won the 220-yard swim for the Center Amateur Athletic Union.

KNOX WON.

Galesburg, Ill., April 27.—The Knox college track and athletic team scored a victory over Monmouth college today, the final score standing: Knox, 90; Monmouth, 27. Knox took every first. Marriot in the sprints, Miller in the hurdles, Carlstrom in the weights and Wetherbee in long distance events were the stars.

NEBRASKA WINS MEET.

Lincoln, Neb., April 27.—Nebraska University defeated today over Iowa State College of Ames in the dual track and field meet by a score of 69 to 45. Nebraska won every track event, while the Ames athletes excelled in the weights.

ROOSEVELT GIVEN GREAT OVATION

BOSTON TURNS OUT EN MASSE TO HEAR COLONEL.

Devotes Only Small Part of Address to President Taft—Says he Parts Company With Men Who do not Serve people of the United States.

Boston, April 27.—Boston gave Colonel Roosevelt tonight the most demonstrative welcome he has seen since beginning his campaign for the presidential nomination. Speaking in the arena before a tumultuous throng, the former president again criticized Mr. Taft. He, however, did not repeat the severe denunciation which marked his speech at Worcester last night. He spoke calmly and devoted only a small part of his address to President Taft.

"I am more fortunate than Mr. Taft in my friends," Roosevelt said. "When Mr. Taft came here Thursday he came here having lost Illinois. Mr. Taft's chief lieutenant had been Mr. Lorimer. In New Hampshire, my chief lieutenant was Governor Bass. Mr. Taft came here to explain that he didn't like Mr. Lorimer, having kept his dislike private and confidential until after he lost Illinois. I came here and said that win or lose I am with Governor Bass."

No Questions Embarrass Roosevelt. Col. Roosevelt, naming some of his supporters, mentioned the western governors who asked him to run, and Clifford Pinchot.

"Where's Perkins?" someone in the crowd yelled.

"He's for me," the Colonel called back, "you can't put a question to me that will embarrass me for a moment. You can search my record and you will find that I have never done for Mr. Perkins or any other human being, one thing I won't tell you in detail."

As representing Mr. Taft's supporters, the Colonel named among hisses of the crowd, Senators Lorimer, Penrose, Guggenheim and Gallinger.

"You can judge for yourself on whose side the bosses are," he went on. "Mr. Taft says I have accepted the support of the bosses. So I have when they went my way. But they had to go my way, or we parted company."

"That's all I have to say of the personalities in this campaign. I will say that I will support any man so long as he serves the people of the United States and when he ceases to do so I will not support."

Col. Roosevelt then turned to a defense of his position in regard to the courts repeating the arguments which he has made throughout the campaign.

Col. Roosevelt spoke from a roped enclosure which is used as a relay ring. It is the platform from which President Taft spoke two nights ago. The ropes used in a boxing match were still in place tonight. When Col. Roosevelt entered the ring, he bent forward to pass under the ropes the crowd began to cheer.

Ask Support in Fight.

The colonel said he wanted his hearers to support him at the polls next Tuesday, "not because the fight is easy, but because it is hard."

"It's a contest between the mercenaries and the minute men," he said. "I want you to show that in civic life you can do what your forefathers did as minute men."

At the end of his speech Colonel Roosevelt called out:

"Now you have me. Am I preaching anarchy?"

"No," the crowd roared.

Before Colonel Roosevelt arrived at the arena a body of men in the middle of the hall began to chant "We want Taft; we want Taft."

The people rose to their feet with a shout and for a few moments the hall was in confusion.

Colonel Roosevelt went to Mechanics Hall where he addressed another big crowd.

Omits Taft's Name.

During the trip Colonel Roosevelt, addressed half a dozen crowds on his tour over the eastern end of the state. He confined himself mainly to the arguments which he has used throughout his campaign, saying he stood for the people and against the bosses. Not once during the trip did he mention President Taft's name.

THE WATER SUPPLY IN JACKSONVILLE

THEME OF TWO THOUSAND WORD STORY IN CHICAGO TRIBUNE TODAY.

Oscar E. Hewitt as Municipal Expert Will Tell What he Thinks About Local Water Situation—State Said to Contemplate Erecting Own Plant For Three Institutions Here Health Rate Figures to be Given Without Mincing Words.

Oscar E. Hewitt, a special representative of the Chicago Tribune, whose presence in Jacksonville was noted Saturday in the Journal, was busy late in the afternoon sending out a two thousand word story to the Tribune. It is very likely that Mr. Hewitt has told to the great reading public of Chicago and the state some very naked truths about Jacksonville, for while the Journal did not have the privilege of seeing his manuscript Mr. Hewitt made so secret last night that his story was about Jacksonville's water supply.

Mr. Hewitt came to the city at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon and in a comparatively few hours had gathered enough information, and gathered it accurately to give him a pretty clear idea of the water situation. So much for the ability and grasp which have earned for him the well deserved title of "municipal expert."

State May Build Plant. Judging from remarks dropped in a conversation with Mr. Hewitt last night, he will say in the Tribune to day that the water supply here is a disgrace to any city; that the only real use to which it can be put is in flushing sewers and in slacking the thirst of low bred cattle. He will say that the water here is so bad that the death rate from typhoid fever is high enough to attract the attention of the health authorities of the state; that the state board of administration is contemplating erecting a plant to supply water for the three state institutions here; that the State Water Survey has become interested in conditions and proposes to investigate.

Mr. Hewitt's figures will show that in forty-four years the City of Jacksonville has spent $700,000 on its water works to say nothing of the matter of $256,000 in interest and that the revenues during that time have been $430,000.

That the state board of administration has the matter of a private supply for the state institutions under advisement is proven by recommendations made in the biennial report of Jacksonville State hospital and the State School for the Blind by Dr. Carl.

Business Methods Condemned. The Tribune's article will say that Jacksonville is a beautiful place to live in. That its elm shaded streets are beyond compare. That educationally and from a standpoint of culture this city has few equals. When it comes to business, however, no such compliments will be forthcoming and the fact that the city is permitted to go on year after year with a miserable, unhealthy and inadequate supply of water, is cited as a case in point. It will be shown that bad impure water represents a great financial loss and figures will be quoted setting forth that the five deaths in Jacksonville last year from typhoid fever meant a loss in dollars and cents. Statistics show that for every person who dies of typhoid fever that two others are afflicted with some serious disease caused by it. Local physicians told Mr. Hewitt that for every person who died in Jacksonville from typhoid that twenty persons ill of the same malady recovered. The cost of each such case of sickness, he has figured at $300 and so the doctor's bills represent a great yearly money cost. As another evidence of poor management in a business way Mr. Hewitt will call to mind that from failure to pay off court house bonds that the court house has cost twice as much as it should.

Water Company Franchise. The Tribune's article will show that Mr. Hewitt has been looking into city council records, studying the franchise originally granted the Jacksonville Water company and reading some of the evidence taken before Master in Chancery Clark in the quo warranto case involving the Water company. Mr. Hewitt will likely say that the purchase clause in the franchise is weak and uncertain and that some of the rates proposed are excessively high. He may point out other things about the franchise ordinance which he doesn't exactly approve but he will also make it clear that it is a most surprising thing that the city has not hastened to enter into some business agreement with the Water Co. for securing a good quality of pure water when the need is so crying.

The Widenham-Daub Wells will come in for some consideration, the manner in which the project was handled by the old council will be reviewed and mention will be made of the fact that when the final contract for pumps was awarded that a committee of citizens offered in vain to do the work at a much less price.

Altogether Mr. Hewitt's story will be a severe indictment of the people of Jacksonville for tolerating a condition of water supply which is so serious a menace to health, which causes an annual loss of thousands of dollars and which has made Jacksonville to be held by various other cities as "an awful" example of municipal inefficiency.

"Two Businesses at the Expense of One"

The words above are big with meaning for the man or woman who reads them carefully must be impressed with the fact that a firm which can conduct TWO EXCLUSIVE LINES OF BUSINESS under one roof, with practically one expense has a tremendous lead over competitors. We are conducting a store which embraces a high class grocery and an equally high class pharmacy. Everything is here which should be found in an up to date modern grocery or pharmacy and with the "goods" offered we are combining service and efficiency. These advantages mean that we are able to sell goods of the highest quality at comparatively low prices and still make reasonable profits. "TWO BUSINESSES AT THE EXPENSE OF ONE," think about it; study over the phrase and then see if you cannot understand why we face the public with such confidence and assert that we can certainly guarantee you quality and service, and at the same time save you money. We are grateful to the people who have already found out what this means and we would like to have others added to our lists of everyday customers, others who now come to us from time to time. We are using modern methods in the conduct of this store and that we can prove that we can please and satisfy you—if you give us a chance.

THE FASHION BOOK

We take pleasure in announcing to you that of the justly celebrated Pictorial Review Patterns is now on sale in our store.

The Summer Fashion Book

It even surpasses in artistic beauty and variety of designs the Spring Fashion Book.

The unmistakable Parisian air of distinction and chic characterizes every one of the new summer styles. Exquisite Lingerie Dresses, Beautiful Afternoon Gowns in Foulards and Taffetas, Charming Evening Toilettes, Blouses—Dainty Creations of Lace in the new Casaque and Peplum Styles, etc., etc.

The regular price of the Fashion Book is 20 cents a copy, but every number contains a pattern coupon worth 15 cents, which will be exchanged for any 15-cent Pictorial Review Pattern, so that this beautiful book really costs you only 5 cents.

Don't Envy the Well Dressed Woman --Be One--Use Pictorial Review Patterns

The words of commendation spoken to us by customers, old and new, since we took the agency for these justly celebrated patterns leads us to believe that their superiority over all others was pretty generally known even before we began to advertise their worth. We consider Pictorial Review Patterns the most important addition we have ever made to our stocks. When a woman begins using them, all other patterns cease to exist to her. Pictorial styles are absolutely unapproachable. Pictorial Patterns are the completest in construction—a boon to the home dressmaker.

Here Are a Few Features Worth Remembering About Pictorial Review Patterns.

You can save double the cost of each pattern in time, labor and material. They are the only patterns having cutting and construction guides. Waste and spoiling of material is absolutely impossible; it is also impossible to mix up the parts. Dressmakers everywhere will tell you they are the most perfect patterns ever invented.

The largest department stores in New York, Chicago and St. Louis have discontinued all other patterns for the Pictorial Review Patterns. There can be but one conclusion drawn from the manner in which they have swept the country, and that is they are absolutely without equal.

STRONG SERMON ON TITANIC DISASTER

Rev. John A. Schmink Conducted Great Memorial Service For Those Who Perished in the Late Wreck.

The Aurora (Mo.) Advertiser of recent date devoted more than a column to the memorial services, conducted at the Congregational church in that city, for those who perished in the great Titanic disaster. Rev. John A. Schmink, who is a graduate of Illinois College and who has many friends in this city is pastor of the church and his sermon was most impressive.

The following paragraph from the sermon will suggest somewhat the impressive nature of the service conducted by Rev. Mr. Schmink and the excellence of his discourse: "The world is made poorer by the loss of some of its greatest men and the loss of gems of great value, but it is made infinitely richer in heroism. Oh, the self control manifested and the sacrifice made. We men should walk more erect, and hold our heads higher today because of the men whose bodies now lie at the bottom of the Atlantic. The sea has been uplifted. I laud these men because they did what we expect of men. Had they done otherwise, we would have been ashamed of our sex. How glad we are that they proved themselves men."

"If out of this terrible disaster the world is led to make a readjustment of values and climbs to a higher plane, then it may not be that these 1,600 lives were sacrificed in vain. It remains with the world which it shall be, loss or gain."

MATRIMONIAL RECORD

Haerle-Tewksbury.
Mr. George J. Haerle and Mrs. Anna L. Tewksbury, both of this city, were united in marriage Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. J. W. Miller, pastor of Grace M. E. church, at his study in Grace church, the ceremony being witnessed by a few intimate friends. This is the second marriage for both parties.

The bride has many friends in this city, where she has long resided. For some time she was head trimmer in the millinery establishment of L. C. & R. E. Henry and her services were valued highly by her employers. By reason of her pleasant disposition and her fine qualities of character she holds the esteem of all who know her.

Mr. Haerle is a tailor and at present is employed in the Muehlhausen Bros. establishment on South Sandy street. He is a son of L. Haerle, of Quincy, who for years was a tailor in this city, conducting a shop for some time on the east side of the square. He is a member of Tailors' Union, No. 212. Mr. Haerle was one of the charter members of the Jeffries' concert band and has continually played with that organization in its many engagements and different chautauqua tours. He is also connected with Osborn's orchestra and is a member of Musicians' Union, No. 128.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Haerle have many friends who will extend heartiest congratulations. They will reside at 215 Brown street.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Mrs. Catherine C. Goebel has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Miss Carlena Bertha, to Mr. Thomas Ewing Miller of Chicago. The ceremony will take place Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, May 15, at 1428 South Main street. The at home cards read "after June 15th, 1448 East 66th street, Chicago."

Miss Maggie Richardson entertained about twenty-five young people at her home Friday evening in honor of Miss Mae Fort of Chicago. The evening was very pleasantly spent in playing games and the prizes were awarded as follows: First, Miss Gusti Sutton and John Lynch; second, Miss Mae Morrison and Lev Rose; third, Lesie Roy and R. Hendrick. During the evening, excellent refreshments were served and the hostess was assisted by Misses Margaret Hill and Zella Richardson and Arthur Cooper.

At a party given by Miss Ethel Jones at her home on East Court street Saturday afternoon in honor of her guests, Miss Violet Perrin of Beardstown and Miss Marie Brennan of Greenville, announcement was made of her engagement to Mr. Roy Ivan Creed of Beardstown. The decorations were very pretty and the announcement came as a great surprise to her many friends. The marriage will take place in June.

WITH THE SICK

Miss Catherine Wright, daughter of Alexander Wright of Franklin, is reported quite ill.

Miss Blanche Evans is very ill at her home on South East street. The condition of Mrs. Alice Mahon who has been quite ill at her home near Sheldahl, has become slightly improved during the past few days. The condition of Mrs. William McElmough of Ripstein, whose illness was mentioned yesterday, is quite serious and it was thought she could not live through the night.

ILLINOIS WINS FROM SHURTLEFF

NOSES OUT VICTORY IN RAGGED CONTEST.

Rough Grounds Made Fast Game Impossible and Final Score Showed 9 to 8 Result—Shurtleff Plays Here Next Saturday.

Coch Harmon and his band of Illinois College ball tossers went to Alton Saturday afternoon where they crossed bats with the Shurtleff college, winning by a score of 9 to 8. The game was pulled off on a diamond located north of Alton, which was in a very rough condition, which accounted in a great measure for the poor showing of both teams. In fact the contest was in doubt up till the very last. Apple who plays in right field for I. C. missed the train and his place was filled by Alford. The Senior Prep man had never done the ball suit this season. Shurtleff will play a return game here next Saturday on Illinois College field.

A brief survey of the contest shows that neither side scored until the third inning. After Russell had struck out Hedgecock got a base on balls, stole second and scored when Johnson made a wild throw to third to catch him stealing. Illinois added one more in the fourth, Shurtleff chalked up three, by the aid of three singles, base on balls, a sacrifice hit and an error by Goodwin.

Both sides drew blanks in the fifth. In the sixth, after Warren had been thrown out Buchett drew a base on balls, Jaccard and Darragh singled and Goodwin scored both of them with a three base hit. He scored a moment later on an error by Ryan. Shurtleff scored a run in their half of the sixth with the aid of Ryan's two base hit.

In the eighth an error by Ryan, followed by Darragh's single, a sacrifice hit by Goodwin, Eagan's out, base on balls to Russell and a fielder's choice, yielded four runs. Shurtleff repeated the performance in their half of the 8th by scoring four runs on an error by Jaccard, three bases on balls and a second error by Jaccard. Shurtleff was unable to connect safely in the ninth.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Reardon. Mrs. Owen Reardon, one of the highly respected citizens of the Manchester neighborhood, died Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The deceased was over 80 years of age and had been ill for a number of weeks.

She is survived by the following children: Mrs. Timothy Murphy, Mrs. Miles Fitzpatrick, Miss Alice Reardon and Dennis Reardon. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Tuman. Joseph C. Tuman, a former resident of this city, died Saturday morning at 3:30 o'clock at his home in Ashland. Death was attributed to heart trouble and it was rather sudden as Mr. Tuman had been enjoying his usual good health.

Joseph C. Tuman was born in Limerickshire, England, and was 76 years of age. At the age of 21 he came to America, settling in this city, where he resided until eight years ago, when he went to Chapin and later moved to Ashland. While resident of this city Mr. Tuman was in the butcher business, being a member of the firm of Tuman & Hackman, which afterward became Tuman & Daub. Since living in Ashland Mr. Tuman has been engaged in the confectionery and bakery business. The deceased was a faithful member of the Christian church and was a man who attracted a large circle of friends by his many sterling qualities. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Ada Hammill of Nashville, Tenn., and Edward Tuman of this city.

Funeral services will be held at Ashland Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of Rev. H. M. Ham-mill, a son-in-law of the deceased, assisted by Rev. F. M. Morgan, pastor of the Ashland Christian church. Interment will be made in the Ashland cemetery.

Irwin. William Nunes has received the sad news of the death of Frank Irwin in Ft. Worth, Texas, who died suddenly from appendicitis. A few years ago Mr. Irwin was married to Miss Rose Fernandes of Springfield, a niece of Mr. Nunes. The remains will be taken to Springfield, where the funeral will be held and interment will be made. Some of Mr. Nunes' family expect to attend the funeral.

$5 TRIMMED HAT, CHOICE $2.50. A rare chance for millinery bargains. Hundreds to choose from. THE EMPORIUM.

ENTERTAINED MISS ILLINGTON. Miss Margaret Illington, who appeared Friday night at the Grand, while in the city was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Woods, being a very close friend of Mrs. Harry Woods. She went from here to Springfield and from there will go to St. Louis, where she will appear at the Garrick Theatre. Mr. Bowes, her husband, who is also manager of the company with which she travels, is building a beautiful theatre in New York city, which it is said will be the equal of in that city. He will name this theatre "The Illington," in honor of his wife.

HERMAN WILL TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THESE SALES AND THE PUBLIC CAN LOOK FORWARD TO BIG BARGAINS AT HERMAN'S POPULAR AND RELIABLE READY TO WEAR STORE THIS WEEK.

HAS NEW ORGANIST. Mr. Donald Swarthout will be the new organist at the Central Christian church this morning. On last Sunday Mrs. A. G. Burr, who has been the efficient organist for the past fifteen years, resigned and the church feels very fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Swarthout, who has had considerable experience along this line. The work of Mrs. Burr will ever be recalled with pleasure and she will be greatly missed at her place.

RED and all other desirable shades of Neck Wear are shown by FRANK BYRNS.

USING GAS AGAIN AT PACKING COMPANY. The Jacksonville Packing company is again using the gas from the wells east of the city. The pressure is better than ever. The gas is being used only under one boiler.

The Egyptian Gas company is contemplating a large gas main from the wells to the city and there is a possibility that if the supply continues as large and the pressure so strong that other places aside from the packing company will be utilizing natural gas before many months roll around.

As "Ed" Howe Sees Life

In Mexico, a day's work is a half hour's practice with a pistol or rifle. I have noticed that an old soldier who has seen a good deal of real fighting, and lost an arm, or a leg, or an eye, can usually be convinced that peace is a good thing.

A slender, pretty girl of fifteen, with fat ancestors, cannot realize what is ahead of her.

As a rule, if you give a whipping, you must take one.

This "Modern Efficiency" you are hearing about is the same old "Work Hard" your grandfather heard about.

Don't be a joke on yourself.

The man who says he does good not because of fear, or hope of reward, but because of the pleasure he finds in helping others, is liable to take the Lord into partnership, and believe that the people should say their prayers to him.

A man of sense does not require a policeman at his elbow constantly; a sensible man is his own policeman, and knows it doesn't pay to violate the ordinances.

When I hear of a quarrel, I know what it means; two men are trying to get the best of it; and the quarrel will be settled when each man takes what he knew he was entitled to in the first place.

A country doctor is celebrated who was called to see a man very ill with an unknown disease, whereupon the doctor tried to throw his patient into fits, a complaint he claimed to understand. The people today are trying to throw business into politics, although we know from long experience that politics is epilepsy, and incurable.

REWARD FOR FINDER.

of automobile hub cap lost on Wednesday. Return to Journal Office.

Ronnie Decker of Litterberry was in the city Saturday on business.

OBITUARY.

Thomas Maroney was born in County Clair, Ireland, December 21, 1822, and died at Rushville, Ill., Wednesday, April 24, 1912. Mr. Maroney immigrated to this country in 1848, and on April 18, 1854, at Schenectady, N. Y., he was united in marriage to Miss Anna Neagel. In 1854 they removed to Jacksonville, Ill., where they resided until 1868, when they moved to Schuyler county, and in 1907 they moved to Rushville, where he resided until his death. Mr. Maroney was the father of nine children, the following of whom survive: Mrs. Thomas Lonergan of Murrayville, Mrs. G. W. Adams of Shreveport, La., Miss Lizzie, at home, and John of Douglas, Neb. He is also survived by his wife and one brother, Jerry Maroney, of Rushville. Mr. Maroney was preceded in death by five children, Patrick, Mrs. Cornelius Lonergan, Mary Maroney and two who died in infancy.

The deceased was a farmer by occupation, having followed that vocation very profitably for several years, and a few years ago he retired and moved to Rushville. He was a member of the Catholic church and was a man who was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends.

Funeral services were held at the Catholic church in Rushville Friday morning, at 9:30 o'clock in charge of Rev. Fr. Bernan of Beardstown and interment was made in the Rushville cemetery. The bearers were: George Purcell, Mr. Carter, Mr. Little of Rushville, William Crowe of Beardstown and John Crowe and J. E. Rogers of Jacksonville.

A Wonderful Bath Towel and Bath Room Accessories Sale!

Save One-Half Your Towel Expense by Using

Chautauqua Turkish Towels

made from two ply yarns. They cost no more than the ordinary kind and wear Twice as Long.

Face towels, 10c, 12½c and 15c each. Bath Towels 20c, 25c, 37½c, 50c and 75c

Do All Turkish Towels Look Alike to You?

Perhaps. But there is a vast difference in the service which they render. Much depends upon the kind of yarn used; more depends upon their construction and finish. There is a reason for the Chautauqua Turkish Towels out-wearing all of their competitors. Examine them.

It would be foolish to make a cable from single strands of wire laid parallel to each other. Then why buy a single thread towel when you can purchase the Chautauqua, which is made from two ply yarns; that is, two threads twisted together as one, at the same price? They are guaranteed to outwear two of their single thread competitors.

This Then is Why the Chautauqua Turkish Towels Possess Unusual Merit and Popularity.

First, they are made of the best two-ply yarns, that is, two threads twisted together as one, and are twice as strong as the common kind made of single thread. Second, they will not lint; the pile is short and will not wear off or easily pull out. Third, all Chautauqua bleached towels are ready for use, being thoroughly antiseptic and absorbent.

IRELAND HAS FAITH IN DEMOCRACY

ARCHBISHOP AT GRANT CELEBRATION PAYS TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN GOOD SENSE.

Believes People Great Enough to Overcome Perils Which Beset Terms Proposed Judicial Recall Fata!—Attacks Socialism.

Galena, Ill., April 27.—Declaring his confidence in the permanency of American Democracy and its certainty to overcome the perils which beset it, Archbishop Ireland spoke today at the Grant celebration on "Some Problems of Democracy."

Among those perils, the Archbishop spoke of the proposed reforms of which he said the most fatal was the recall, "especially the recall of the judiciary." His speech was also marked by strong criticism of socialism and its tenet.

The archbishop prefaced his treatment of the problems, which he classed as "The economic peril" and the "political peril," by declaring, "In the permanency of American Democracy, I have the steadiest faith, because steady faith I have in the patriotism and the good sense of the people of America. But confidence in the abiding ability of American Democracy to pass safely through every storm, must not beget us into a somnolence and apathy while the storm clouds above its brow and the peril dials pitfalls beneath its feet. Democracy is on trial in America. Our land today is a spectacle to all nations; the acclaim to America is universal; America proves or disproves the beneficence, the vitality of Democracy."

The Economic Peril.
Touching what he characterized as the economic peril, Archbishop Ireland said in part:

"The economic peril is well within our doors; care is needed that it do not penetrate further into the interior of the household. Whatever leads to the disruption of the social organism is forbidden; that also is forbidden which ruins private property—the foundation stone upon which rests the social structure, the very core of life is human effort and human aggrandizement, whether in the individual or collectively. Eliminate private property, destroy or minimize industry, rights, make industry or profits—yes, have ruled that labor is not worth the fatigue, that indolence and improvidence are privileges to be sought for; you have stilled personal and national progress, you have driven back the human race to the chaos of barbarism and savagery."

"All men are born equal; Democracy is the government of the people, for the people. Therefore—say some—there should be equality of possession; and the office of government is to lend its authority to the enforcement of equality. Fatal misconceptions of the meaning of the American declaration of independence, of the meaning of American Democracy."

Men Not Equal in All Ways.
"All men are indeed born equal—equal in the meaning of the declaration of independence—equal so far as the laws of the land may reach, equal in rights derived from government, equal in such opportunities as government creates or is enabled to create. But all men are not equal in nature's gifts, physical or moral, and equality of this kind no government can create, no government is allowed to presuppose."

"In the battle for the possessions of earth, the essential factors are strength of limb, perspicacity of mind, perseverance in toil, self-control in winning the prize, in holding it when it is won. In all those endowments, no law, no constitution will ever make them equal. And so, say what we will, so do what we will, men will never share alike in the ownership in the things of earth. Equal ownership today, tomorrow they will be unequal; for the possession of the things of earth is the reward of things that are necessarily unequal—personal talent and personal energy. Democracy has this value over other forms of government; it increases to the individual the field of opportunity; with good reason, it may be named opportunity, opportunity given equally to all."

"To attempt the use of powers of a government, be that government the freest of democracies, in order to make the world of men other than what nature has willed it, is the most futile of tasks, doomed by nature to failure, sure, if long pursued, to destroy the government itself and the social organism in whose behalf it was instituted."

Americans For Fair Play.
"This may well be said to the honor of the people of America—it is a wish of theirs that those who are the poorer shall be held to their poverty, that honest toil shall be rewarded from sufficient and adequate remuneration. None in America will resent efforts put forth in fair play toward the social betterment of any class in the population, especially when that class are those upon whom weighs most heavily the burden of human life, and without whose earnest and willing co-operation the talent of others is doomed to idleness and industry and enterprise put out of each. If this were the meaning of that many-sided and heterogeneous combination of plannings and activities calling itself socialism, welcome it we should, welcome it we would."

Condemns Socialist Teachings.
"But what most usually are the theories and the methods of socialism? Here it is the absolute denial of the right to private property—"property" we are told "is theft." There it is such impediments to private property, such control and limitation that few or none will be able to acquire it, few or none will be able to retain it."

"These the theories of socialism, and the theories are preached broadcast. It is the bitter hatred of one class of citizens toward another. It is the reckless jealousy that pulls down and destroys: It is the deli-ance of law and social order: It is the menace of war, even unto the spilling blood. Socialism, unprincipled in theory, wild and violent in method, is to day the peril of lands, whatsoever their form of government. Especially it is the peril of democracies, there wider social liberty is allowed to its preachings; their political rights are more easily swayed into its service. Socialism today is the peril of America: They are blind who see its workings.

The Way to Govern.
On the political problem, the Archbishop declared that the main question was how are the people to govern, whether directly or through representatives, acting under constitutional limitation. The Archbishop said in part:

"Stability or constitution and law is the vital condition of social order, of continuous progress. What becomes of this stability when a small percentage of voters may at their caprice suspend decrees of legislatures, call for alterations in existing laws, propose as projects of law their whims and fancies? It is the road to social revolution. In to it we may at any moment be cast by a small minority of the people—often the precise minority which least deserves the protective hand of government."

Judicial Recall Fata!.
Of the recall he said: "Of all the proposed reforms, the most fatal is the recall, especially the recall of the judiciary. No greater peril to the institutions of democracy, to the permanency of social order, could well be imagined than the legalizing of the recall of the judiciary."

"If ever expert knowledge and deep, prolonged reflection were in requisition, it surely is when the eternal principles of right and justice as between man and man, between man or men and the social organism, or the exact and precise meaning of constitutions and such matters are often so abstruse in nature, so dazing in complexity, to be judged at the bar of a mere popular majority, so many of whom have never given to them slightest study, or are avowedly incapable of grasping their deep and intricate intent, so many of whom will be ready to put in first place their personal interest and caprice, so many of whom very likely have their own good reasons to dread justice and law."

The Archbishop declared that the difference between the recall of judges and that of judicial decisions to be one of words, and that the judge whose decision was rejected by the popular vote was practically rejected himself."

A GOOD REPORT.

The official statement of The Farmers State Bank and Trust Co., which appears in another column shows that this bank of strength and character is maintaining a steady growth. It has gained in deposits 15 per cent since the statement of February 21, 1912, notwithstanding the fact that receipts from agriculture have been materially reduced recently. The Farmers State Bank and Trust Company shows a good increase in its deposits as it has shown in every report it has made.

Its cash resources are strong enough to meet all demands and it is in position to lend to those entitled to accommodation.

This bank is now occupying its new offices, the most commodious and best equipped in the county, and has every facility to transact its business promptly and efficiently and offers the public the best there is in banking.

"This is a complete banking institution transacting a general banking business, pays interest on savings deposits and is authorized by the State to execute wills, administer estates and act as guardian, conservator, trustee, etc."

Prudence, combined with every facility for safe and legitimate banking governs each department of the bank. The financial standing of its directors and the banking experience of its officers are a guarantee of its soundness. Its management adheres consistently to conservative policies and strives at all times to oblige and properly serve a rapidly increasing list of depositors and patrons.

Its directors are A. L. French, President, D. Rees Browning, Vice-President; Frank J. Heintz, Cashier; A. C. Rice, C. F. Leach, C. S. French, Charles S. Black, Albert Crum and W. S. Rice.

By reason of the personal attention and prompt business like service its officers are able to promise its customers and clients, this bank invites the accounts of those who appreciate banking efficiency.

GREENFIELD NEWS.

Greenfield, Ill., April 27.—A high wind from the southeast visited this locality Thursday night, doing considerable damage to trees and outbuildings. Some buildings were turned over and others unroofed. The large two story frame house just west of town, occupied by Edward Nash and known as the Mitchell homestead, was rocked in such a manner by the high wind that the south wall of the foundation fell into the cellar.

Farm work has been much retarded on account of late spring and continued wet weather. Roads are good in some localities where they have been dragged and other places where the drag has not been used they are well near impassable. Four horses are put on a farm wagon to go into town.

There will be an increased acreage of corn because of the inability to sow oats early and on account of late wheat being killed by severe winter. More horses will be required to cultivate the crop.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

The funeral of James D. Muse, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Muse, of South Diamond street, will take place at the Mt. Emory Baptist church this afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Mr. Russell will officiate.

The spring session of the Southern Illinois Baptist association is now being held at Duquoin.

C. P. Coalhurst, a well known retired farmer living near Kankakee, had read so much about the Titanic disaster that he dreamed about it and thinking he was on the ill fated ship jumped right through the window of his second story room to the ground, scratching his face badly and hurting himself otherwise.

More than 35 cars of rhubarb have been shipped from Alto Pass to Chicago this spring. The shipments equal 17,000 boxes worth about $17,000.

Work in earnest has been begun on Kankakee and Urbana interurban line.

The Quincy city council has ordered the police to bar from public parks all kinds of questionable dances such as have been indulged in in times past.

Paxton has organized a promising society of boy scouts. Oscar Parson, white, of Bird's Point, shot the farmer whom he was working for. He gave himself up, but would make no statement.

The suit brought by Wyoming saloonkeepers to set aside the verdict of the people went against them and in favor of the "dry."

Sunday afternoon in Petersburg, four men were taken in for being drunk and obliged next morning to come down with fines and costs.

James McFall of Petersburg recently found in Macomb a brother whom he had not seen for 57 years. Mr. McFall was in Hot Springs when a man seeing his bronze button asked him his name and remarked that a soldier of that name served in his company and inquiry proved him to be the brother of James of Petersburg. The two had a very affecting meeting and a pleasant visit together.

Peter Daily was shot on the streets of Pekin in broad daylight recently. A man was with him, but is unable adequately to describe the ruffians and Daily tried it before he died, but failed.

Joseph L. Hayward of Tazewell county, a long time pioneer, died recently with pneumonia.

A generous donor who will not tell his name has given $10,000 toward the new Christian church in Decatur.

MAN ESCAPES DANGER.

A narrow escape from being run over by a train or automobile gives a sense of danger easily realized. James Allen of Brooklyn was in a danger just as perilous, and he escaped by knowing just what to do.

In a letter he says: "I had been in poor health for three years and might have been yet if it had not been for Vinol which built me up wonderfully. Almost immediately after I began taking it I began to improve and gain weight. My appetite is now good, I sleep well, and feel as well as I ever did."

Hundreds of worn-out, miserable people right around here who are in broken health and think there is no help for them, could be built up and made strong by Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy without oil. Weak, sickly women and men, young children and feeble old people need the new strength and vitality that Vinol gives, and they ought to begin taking it right now. We guarantee Vinol to give satisfaction, and pay back your money if it does not. Lee P. Allcott, east side square, and other druggists.

SAW A WOLF.

A day or two since Isaac Watson, residing about eight miles southeast of the city, saw a big grey wolf on his farm, but having no gun with him, was unable to hurt the intruder which has already left his mark in the destruction of some lambs. Mr. Watson attributes the presence of the animal to the fact that streams were unusually frozen over the past winter enabling the wolves to go where they liked in the state.

He said some twenty years ago he caught one in a big steel trap, the creature putting his foot into it and withdrawing it so that only the toes were caught, but enough to entrap the animal and so cause its death.

He said he had taken a portion of the fatty encasing of a sheep's stomach and put strychnine into it and made a ball of it and sometimes succeeded in persuading a wolf to eat it and sometimes they were too smart to be taken that way.

Mrs. Henry Lemons and daughter, Miss Hattie, of Manchester were shopping in the city yesterday.

In the Doldrums.

We may hear it said of one who is in low spirits, "he is in the dumps" or "he is in the doldrums," but many who use the latter of these phrases have caught it up without any knowledge of its real significance. The region of calms is a belt which stretches across the Atlantic and Pacific almost on a line with the equator. Here meet the north and south trade winds, and squalls and heavy rains are frequent, but the characteristic of this region, which is known also as the doldrums, is an oppressive calm. The name loses much of the significance attached to it by sailors in the past, who, if their ships ran into that region, might whistle in vain for wind, as their sails hung heavily, and all seemed to be as idle as a painted ship upon a painted ocean.

The Discovery of Iron.

The Bible speaks of Tubal-Cain as the discoverer of iron and the father of smiths. The Egyptians imputed to Hephaestus the same honor, while Pliny mentions it having been discovered by Daedalus on Mount Ida after the forests on the mountain side had been destroyed by lightning, this about 1432 B. C. Jeremiah and Ezekiel both mention iron in their Scriptural writings, the latter especially mentioning two qualities of the metal, calling one "bright iron," which was probably steel. Moses mentions an iron furnace, and Job speaks of it as being taken out of the earth.

Too Mean a Trick.

QUICK RELIEF

FOR RHEUMATISM

George W. Koons, Lawton, Mich., says: "Dr. Detchon's Relief for Rheumatism has given my wife wonderful benefit for rheumatism. She could not lift hand or foot, had to be lifted for two months. She began the use of the remedy and improved rapidly. On Monday she could not move and on Wednesday she got up, dressed herself and walked out for breakfast. Sold by L. P. Alcott, druggist."

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES.

The debate between Millikin and Illinois will occur in the college chapel on Thursday evening, May 9. Miss Lee of the Hinman school of Chicago arrived on Wednesday and has taken charge of the instruction of the students for the May Day fete, which is to be held on May 20.

President Rammelkamp will attend the meeting of the Federation of Illinois Colleges, which is to be held at Wheaton on April 29 and 30.

Principal Robinson went to Griggsville Friday afternoon to serve as one of the judges at the contest in declamation of the Illinois Valley High School association.

Coach Harmon was in Canton on Wednesday and presented to the Canton high school the basketball championship banner. This is a banner offered by Illinois college to the winning high school team in the basketball ball tournament.

President E. J. James, his son, Lieutenant James, and wife, were visitors at the home of President and Mrs. Rammelkamp on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Julian H. Camps of the senior class has received notice of his appointment as an assistant in chemistry at Princeton university next year. Garm Norbury also of the senior class was recently awarded a graduate scholarship in chemistry at the University of Illinois. These appointments give some indication of the quality of work which students are doing in the department of chemistry of the college.

Dr. Julian M. Sturtevant, '54 of Chicago will deliver an address on the Rev. George L. Roberts Foundation at the chapel exercises Tuesday morning, May 7.

INDIGESTION

Causes Dizziness, Nervousness, Biliousness, Sick Headaches and Sleeplessness.

You know that most of the ailments named above come from an out of order stomach.

When your food reaches the stomach it should digest and furnish nutritious matter to the blood.

If it doesn't digest, but lays heavily on your stomach, it has started to ferment.

When it ferments it sets loose in the stomach poisonous gases which irritate the great pneumogastric nerve that leads directly from the stomach.

That irritation causes heartburn, dizziness, nervousness, and other ailments.

MI-ONA is guaranteed to end all stomach misery, or money back. 50 cents at Coover & Shreve's and druggists everywhere.

REMEMBER THE MILL.

H. L. Jackson says he well remember when there was a dam in what was formerly known as Pullan ravine and which is now a part of Morgan lake at Nichols park. He says the wheel was an overshot that turned the mill and the plant was a good one. He was employed by Charley Dunlap to thresh wheat in that vicinity in 1852 and has yet a vivid recollection of the way things looked there then.

CHARLES W. CLARK

Charles W. Clark, the noted baritone and leader singer of Paris, London and Chicago, will give a song recital Wednesday evening, May 8, at 8:40 o'clock in the Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reeder of Winchester were among the visitors in Jacksonville yesterday.

A FASHION HINT.

Freshen Up Last Season's Gown With a Tunic.

BRILLIANT GOWN IN CHIFFON AND VELVET.

If a silk frock of last season needs freshening up there is nothing that will do the trick so well as to drape it with a chiffon tunic. These tunics come in lovely embroidered and beaded designs already made in the shops, and the most inexperienced dressmaker can fit them to the frock they are to adorn.

The costume illustrated has a chiffon tunic weighted with a deep hem of velvet and also with heavy embroidery and gold cord. The tunic falls in slender lines over a drop skirt of satin. The waist line is high, in the prevailing empire style. The long tight sleeves of satin add to the dignity of this costume. But the brilliant color scheme—rich red, and the red chiffon tunic above the red satin lining is made brilliant by the gold embroidery.

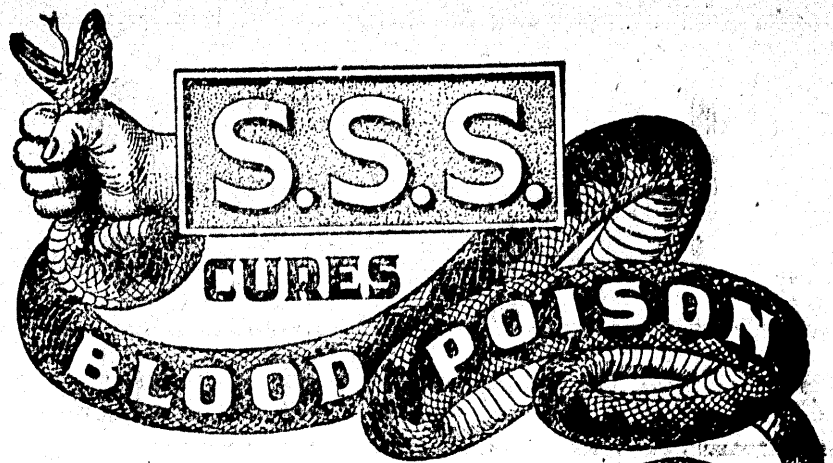

Story of a Stinky Husband.

In a lively article in the current number of Farm and Fireside on the relations between husbands and wives on the subject of home finances there are several interesting reports of actual cases. Following is a report of a stinky husband:

"A girl I knew in my youth was married after a short acquaintance to a scholarly professional man. He had been brought up under hard conditions in a strenuous school of poverty. She was the daughter of wealth and had never been denied a reasonable wish. Her husband is what is called a good provider. He bought amply for the table and was not averse to having plenty of fuel and sufficient house furnishings to keep his home comfortable and dignified. He simply declined to let Betty buy so much as 5 cents' worth of anything. He did not wish her to have accounts at shops, nor did she desire them. When she wanted to buy anything for herself or the children he accompanied her, superintended her purchases, examined every pair of stockings and every yard of muslin and frowned upon ruching and trimmings as needless, drawing out his well filled pocketbook and paying the bill with a flourish when the shopping had been done to his satisfaction. She never had any money in her possession except when her mother sent it to her as a gift, and when this was done she took excellent care to keep Reuben in ignorance. Once the good man, for in some ways he was good, was compelled to leave home for a few days. He carefully counted the amount that his wife would spend for the house during his absence. Then he lost his train and had to wait over another day. Coming home, he asked her for the cash and put it back in his own pocket for the next twenty-four hours."

Suffragette Activity.

The women of New York state are trying to bring the Empire State into the suffrage group to follow California. New York city is about torn asunder with suffrage doings. There are nine local organizations. Mrs. Clarence Mackay's branch opened a circulating suffrage library recently. The Woman's Political union held a meeting in Carnegie hall to listen to Mrs. Pankhurst, and the collection they took up amounted to $9,000, and with this they are branching out in various directions. A votes for women ball is the next affair, and then comes the suffrage parade, when they count on having 30,000 women in line, with banners and floats, to say nothing of a company of cavalry. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont has opened a magnificent clubhouse, and her next venture is a daily paper. The woman's suffrage party is starting a magazine that will compete with the Ladies' Home Journal in advertising and furnishing such reading as women have never had dashed on to them.

Contagious Blood Poison, as the name implies, is an infectious blood taint which may be communicated from one person to another. Its virus is of a most insidious nature, multiplying from an insignificant germ in the blood until it becomes a thorough systemic poison. So powerful and dangerous is this terrible blood plague that no time should be lost in trying to drive it from the system. It should not be temporized with, but should be killed as one would a deadly serpent on the pathway. The first manifestation of Contagious Blood Poison is usually a tiny sore or pimple, but it rapidly spreads, and in a short time the entire body shows its presence in the blood. The mouth and throat ulcerate, glands in the groin swell, the hair begins to come out, copper-colored spots appear on the body, and frequently running sores and ulcers break out on the flesh.

A condition of such serious nature requires proper treatment. Not only must the disease be driven out, but the system which has been weakened by the powerful poison must be built up, before health can be restored. The question of most importance therefore is—what medicine has proven by actual results its superiority as a blood purifier? We claim this distinction for S. S. S. because of its successful record for more than forty years.

S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison by purifying the blood. It goes into the circulation and removes the last trace of the infectious virus, acts with fine tonic effect on the stomach, bowels, kidneys, and other portions of the system, and thus makes a perfect as well as a permanent cure. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, each of which has a specific action on the system. Not a particle of mineral or other harmful substance enters into its composition. S. S. S. is perfectly safe for any one, and instead of upsetting the stomach, as mineral medicines often do, it tones up this important member, and makes digestion easy. Thousands have cured themselves of Contagious Blood Poison by the use of S. S. S., and if you will write and request it we will send you, without charge, our Home Treatment Book which will give you all necessary information for crushing out the life of this serpent-like poison and curing yourself at home. We will also give you free any medical advice you may wish. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.

CORN IS KING

AND MORGAN COUNTY IS HIS CAPITOL.

He is at home here. His subjects understand him and like him. He gives them every year full and satisfactory returns for all they do for him. Morgan county land costs no money, but it is worth it. Land elsewhere can be bought cheaper, but it is worth less, and you never know when it is going to fail you. Morgan county crops never fail.

For sixteen years we have talked this and nothing but this: Stay with the dirt you know. Keep your farm; or, if it is too small for you, buy a larger one that you know all about.

We can sell you the farm, and we can get you all the money you need to pay for it—home money—Morgan county money—money that has been made, grown if you please, in Morgan county dirt, and that is not afraid to go back into it.

We have confidence in Morgan county land, and the money-owners of Morgan county have confidence in us, and for sixteen years the combination has been working well. We have always had the money to lend, and our money clients have never lost a dollar nor had to foreclose a mortgage of a farm.

Foreign Aid During the Revolution

By Olivia G. Dunlap

At a recent meeting of the Daughters of the Revolution, Miss Olivia G. Dunlap read a very valuable and interesting paper with "Foreign Aid During the Revolution" as her theme. A part of the paper is printed herewith and a part will appear in a later issue.

DeKalb, Steuben, Kosciuszko, Lafayette. The majority of those volunteers were French, but several of the more distinguished came from other lands. As we wander backward over the pages of history and read of the heroic lives of our foreign aid we realize that true life is more beautiful, romantic and fascinating than fiction.

There was Kosciuszko, the Polish hero, Baron de Kalb, the loyal companion of Lafayette, and lastly was Baron Von Steuben, the Great Frederick veteran destined in the minds of the American people, to head this roll of illustrious foreigners was Lafayette who with youthful enthusiasm left wife, fortune and great social position to serve freely the cause of American liberty.

On June 29th, 1721 in beautiful Alsace, a child was born, who in later years gave his life in defense of the colonies across the waters. Baron John De Kalb was trained in the French army and in 1762 visited the Anglo-American as a secret agent of the French government.

He was a brigadier in the French service when on November 7th, 1776 he made with Franklin and Silas Deane an engagement to serve in the forces of revolted colonies; and in 1777 he accompanied Lafayette to America. He was loyal, received by the Americans and spent the remainder of his life in loyal service. Congress appointed him a Major General September 15th, 1777, after which he joined the main army under Washington and was active in the event near Philadelphia which preceded the encampment at Valley Forge. He served in New Jersey and Maryland till in April 1780. He was sent with two thousand men to reinforce General Lincoln, then besieged in Charleston but arrived too late.

When the news of Lincoln's disaster reached the north and the people demanded that Gates "the hero of Saratoga" then in retirement be sent to retrieve the south, congress yielded to the demand, though Washington wished to send Green and Gates hurried to the Hillsborough to take command of an army that needed every thing, but most of all, a judicious leader; which Gates was not. De Kalb was second in command under Gates and in the disastrous battle of Camden, August 16th, 1780 he was at the head of the Maryland and Delaware troops, who maintained their ground till Cornwallis concentrated his whole force upon them. He fell pierced with eleven wounds in the charge upon his regiment before they gave up. He died at Camden three days later. To day his body rests in the sunny southland where he so bravely defended the colonies. In 1825 a monument was erected to his memory.

Back of this monument to day in historic Camden stands the Presbyterian church. Coming down through history another century historic Camden is again a battlefield to mark the spot where Richard Kirke and a confederate soldier ministered to the wounded and dying Union men by carrying them away. The National Humane society erected in his memory the Confederate memorial drinking fountain. War plucks from the heart of the nation the flower of its manhood.

History bears immortal testimony to the fact that the fairest and bravest fall just at the cannon's mouth.

The monument bearing the appropriate inscription, "A Citizen of the World." It seems an ideal spot for our brave soldier to rest in the city bearing the name of Lord Camden, that illustrious man who said in the English Parliament in 1765, "The forefathers of Americans did not leave their native country and subject themselves to every danger and distress to be reduced to a state of slavery. They did not give up their rights. They expected protection, not chains, from the mother country."

Baron von Steuben. Of all the foreign officers who served under Washington during the war of independence, the Baron von Steuben was in many respects the most important. Member of a noble family which for five centuries had been distinguished in the local annals of Magdeburg, Steuben was one of the best educated and most experienced soldier of Germany. His grandfather, an able theologian, was a well known author of a critical treatise in the New Testament; his uncle an eminent mathematician, had been the inventor of a new system of fortification.

His father had seen half a century of honorable service in the corps of engineers. He had himself held the rank of first lieutenant at the beginning of the seven years war, and after excellent service in the battle of Prague-Rossbach and Kunersdorf, he was raised to a position on the staff of Frederick the Great.

At the end of the war when the thrifty king reduced his army and Blucher with other officers afterward famous left the service, Steuben retired to private life, with the honorary rank of general of the circle of Swabia. For more than ten years he was grand marshal to the Prince of Hohenlohe-Hengenberg. Then he went traveling about Europe, until the spring of 1777 he arrived in Paris, and became acquainted with secretly contemplated by the French Ministry and the astute Vergennes knowing that the chief defect of our armies lay in their want of organization and discipline saw in the scientific German soldier an efficient instrument for remedying the evil. After much hesitation Steuben was persuaded to undertake the task, that his arrival on the scene might excite no heart burning among the American officers the honorary rank which he held in Germany was translated by Vergennes into the rank of lieutenant general, which the Americans would at once recognize as more eminent than any position existing in their own army except that of commander-in-chief. Knowing no English Steuben took with him as secretary and interpreter the youthful Pierre Duponceau, afterward famous as a lawyer, and still more famous as a philologist.

They came ashore at Portsmouth on a frosty December day. At Boston John Hancock furnished the party with sleighs, drivers and saddle horses for the inland journey of more than four hundred miles to York. During this cheerful voyage, which took three weeks to perform, Steuben's heart was warmed toward his new country, and his reminiscences of the seven years war, which he frequently encountered.

The name of Frederick was deservedly popular in America and his familiar features decorated the sign board of many a wayside inn, while on the coffee room walls hung quaint prints with doggerel verses commemorating Rossbach and Lutzen along with Luresburg and Quebec. On arriving at York the German general was received by congress with distinguished honors; and this time the confidence given to a trained European soldier turned out to be well deserved.

After his interview with congress Steuben repaired at once to Valley Forge where Washington was not slow in recognizing his ability nor was Steuben on the other hand at a loss to perceive in the ragged and motley array which he passed in review the existence of soldierly qualities which needed nothing so much as training.

Disregarding the English custom which looked upon the drilling of soldiers as work fit only for sergeants, he took musket in hand and showed what was to be done. Alert and untiring he worked from morning until night in showing the men how to retreat or change front with falling into discord, how to perform in short, all the rapid and accurate movements for which the Prussian army had become famous. It was a revelation to the American troops, generals, colonels and captains were fired by the contagion of his example, and for several months the camp was converted into a training school, in which master and pupils worked with incessant and furious energy. Von Steuben was struck with the quickness with which the common soldiers learned their lesson.

In May, 1778, after three months of such work Von Steuben was appointed inspector general of the army. The reforms which he introduced were said to have saved more than 800,000 French lives to the United States. No accounts had been kept of arms and accoutrements and owing to the careless, good nature which allowed every recruit to carry home his musket as a keepsake; there had been a loss of from five to eight thousand muskets annually. During the first year of von Steuben's inspectorship less than twenty muskets were lost. Half the army at Valley Forge were found by von Steuben without bayonets. The American soldier had no faith in this weapon, because he did not know how to use it. When he did not throw it away he adapted it to culinary purposes, holding on its point the beef which he roasted before his camp fire. Yet in little more than a year after von Steuben's arrival we shall see an American column without firing a gun storm the works at Stony Point in one of the most spirited bayonet charges known in history. It was von Steuben who first taught the American army to understand the value of an efficient staff. The want of such a staff was severely felt at the battle of Brandywine, but before the end of the war Washington had become provided with a staff that Frederick need not have despised.

While busy with all these laborious reforms the good Baron found time to prepare a new code of discipline and tactics based on Prussian experience, but adapted to the peculiar conditions of American warfare, and this excellent manual held its place soon after the death of its author as the Blue Book of our army. Von Steuben proved himself a thorough military scholar; he was not only able to teach but to learn, and in the art of warfare there was one lesson Europe now learned from America. In woodland fights with the Indians it had been found desirable to act in loose columns, which could easily separate to fall behind trees and unite at brief notice; and in this way there developed a kind of light infantry peculiar to America and especially adapted for skirmishing. Reduced to scientific shape by von Steuben and his staff, with all the other military knowledge of the age by Napoleon, this light infantry have come to play a great part on the European battle fields of the twentieth century. Von Steuben took part in the siege of Yorktown and spent all his fortune clothing his men.

Throughout the war he proved no less faithful than capable. He came to feel a genuine love for his adopted country, and after the war was over, retiring to the romantic woodland near Utica, New York, he was grand marshal to the Prince of Hohenlohe-Hengenberg. Then he went traveling about Europe, until the spring of 1777 he arrived in Paris, and became acquainted with lineage were already settled and where the state of New York presented him with a farm of 16,000 acres in acknowledgement of his service, congress having voted him $2,400 yearly. Here he lived the life of a country gentleman, until his death in 1794. A little village some twelve miles north of the site of old Fort Stanwix still bears his name and marks the position of his estate. He was born in Prussia, Nov. 16, 1730. When only 14 years old he served in the siege of Prague. He died in New York, Nov. 28, 1794, where his body now lays.

The American alliance was already, where so many families of German

Kosciuszko.

To the home of a noble Lithuanian family God sent a son. The Thaddeus Kosciuszko, a Polish patriot, was born near Novogrudok, Lithuania, Feb. 12, 1746. It is with some interest to note our immortal Lincoln was born 68 years later on the same day of the month, Feb. 12.

This Polish patriot studied at the military academy of Warsaw, and was sent to the military school at Versailles to complete his studies at the expense of the state. On his return to Poland he rose to the rank of captain. At this time in his life a beautiful maiden crossed his pathway, the daughter of the Marshal of Lithuania, of Kosciuszko fell passionately in love with her. His love was unrequited. This induced him to leave his own country. He embarked for America. In so doing blazing the way for the thousands of his country who have in later years, in the home of disappointment, embarked for America, the land of the brave and free. In America he received a commission as an officer of engineers, Oct. 18, 1776, and repaired to his posts with his troops under Gates. He planned the encampment and posts of the army on the range of the hills called Bemis Heights, near Saratoga, which after two well fought actions Burgoyne found it impossible to dislodge the Americans. He was subsequently the principal engineer in executing the works at West Point and became one of the adjutants of Washington under whom he served with distinction.

Finally he was made brigadier-general, was honored with the public thanks of congress and with the badge of Cincinnati. At the end of the war he returned to Poland, where he lived several years in retirement. When Russia invaded Poland in 1792, Kosciuszko held a position at Dubrenka for five days with only 40,000 men against 18,000 Russians and after the king surrendered to Empress Catharine he retired to Leipzig. At the rising of his countrymen in 1794, Kosciuszko was appointed dictator and commander-in-chief. His defeat of a greatly superior force of Russians was followed by a rising of the Poles in Warsaw. He established a provisional government and took the field against the their forces was three times as large. He was defeated by the Russians and taken prisoner October 10, 1798. He was kept in rigorous confinement in St. Petersburg till the death of Empress Catharine two years later, when the Emperor Paul restored his liberty with many marks of esteem. Being offered a sword by Paul he replied, "I country to defend." In 1798 Kosciuszko visited the United States, where he was received with high honor and distinction on account of the service he had rendered in the war of independence. A grant of land was obtained from congress in addition to an annual pension previously allowed him.

The remainder of his life was spent in France and Switzerland, where he gave himself mainly to agricultural pursuits. He was killed at Solothurn, Switzerland, Oct. 15, 1817, by the fall of his horse over a precipice. His remains were removed by the Emperor Alexander to the Cathedral church of Cracow, where they repose by the side of Poniatowski and Sobieski. Near Cracow there is a mound of earth 150 feet high which was raised to his memory by the people, earth being brought from every great battlefield of Poland.

SMART MILLINERY.

The Severe but Becoming Straw Derby.

DERBY IN BLUE MILAN STRAW.

These stiff derby hats, made of fine milan straw, are just now in fashion's favor. The derby illustrated is a model of blue milan with a band of velvet around the crown in matching shade and a plaited cabochon and bow at one side.

These straw derby models are the latest kind of outing hats worn this spring.

Household Hints.

French chalk will do much toward removing a scorch on silk or delicate wool if a coating of the chalk be left on the spot for several days.

A good treatment for soiled coat collars is naphtha applied with a brush. Dip the brush in naphtha until thoroughly saturated, then give the spot or grime a few brisk rubs. The most delicate velvet will yield to this treatment, though satin should not be treated in this way.

A teaspoonful of peroxide of hydrogen in half a tub of cold water is a splendid bleach for lingerie and white clothes. Let the clothes remain in the water overnight and after rinsing wash in the usual way. White silk and wool as well as linen may be treated in this way.

To remove white spots from furniture dip a cloth in hot water nearly to boiling point. Place over the spot, remove quickly and rub the spot with a dry cloth. Repeat if spot is not removed. Alcohol or camphor quickly applied may be used.

To prevent glassware from being easily broken, put in a kettle of cold water, heat gradually until water has reached boiling point. Set aside and when water is cold take out glassware.

A Seasonable Fad.

The tailors are doing surprising things with taffeta this spring, and the little afternoon suits of changeable taffeta are fetching affairs indeed. Such a thing is pictured here. It is of blue and green changeable taffeta.

TAILORED SUIT OF CHANGEABLE TAFFETA. And the skirt is short enough to reveal the neat buttoned boots. The coat is the feature of the suit with its gay cutaway lines, pipings, cord fastenings and trimming of cream Venise lace.

Crochet Buckle.

Why not make for yourself a belt buckle of Irish lace? Any oval or oblong shape may be used for a foundation, or a shape can be cut from heavy cardboard, with slides sewed on the under side when finished.

The foundation is covered first with a layer of cotton wadding, then with black or white silk, according to the outside.

The separate flowers are first crocheted, then a shaped background of the openwork stitch just big enough to cover the buckles neatly. This is stretched tightly over the covered belt buckle and sewed with tiny stitches.

A good looking buckle for a black and white dress is of the black lace made up over a white satin lining.

Cookery Notes

Good Things For the Spring Table. Cocoa Flavored With Cinnamon.—If the afternoon cocoa served in place of tea at the sewing meet or at the little supper is especially delicious it might be well to inquire into its secret if such familiarity is warranted by acquaintance with the hostess. The mixture of some such delicious cup is often a surprise to women who have always supposed that chocolate is chocolate and cocoa cocoa. For instance, one woman flavors her cocoa with cinnamon, sherry and vanilla and often adds a cupful of strong coffee to the potful. And she gives a creamy consistency by using a tablespoonful of arrowroot for every quart of hot milk. Four tablespoonfuls of cocoa are allowed to this amount, and it is cooked slowly for twelve minutes with the cinnamon, arrowroot and about three tablespoonfuls of sugar. At the end of this time a tablespoonful of sherry is stirred in with a teaspoonful of vanilla and a saltspoonful of salt. Then the cocoa is whipped with a revolving egg beater until it is a mass of foam. The coffee, very strong, is turned in at the very last if it is wanted.

Swiss Steak.—Put two and a half pounds of round steak into a saucepan with just enough cold water to keep it from burning as it slowly cooks until tender enough to fall to pieces. Keep the saucepan well covered. A casserole is the best dish for cooking this tender. Then remove the bones, fat and gristle and mince very fine. Add salt and pepper to suit the taste, a pinch of nutmeg and a little catsup or hot table sauce. Press out the juices and work into the meat one unbroken egg. Mold into shapes four inches long and three inches wide. Saute these a nice brown in good sweet dripping or bacon fat; arrange on a hot platter and garnish with parsley. Make a sauce by adding a large tablespoonful of butter to the pressed out juices, a cupful of milk, half a cupful of water and salt and pepper to taste. Thicken with a little flour paste and add half a can of button mushrooms or a dozen small oysters parboiled in their own liquor. If the oysters are used take the oyster liquor instead of the water for making the sauce.

Jelly Filled Oranges.—Take as many large China oranges as liked, then with the point of a sharp knife cut out from the top of each a round about the size of a quarter; then empty out the pulp, taking care not to break the rinds.

Throw into cold water. Make some jelly of the juice pressed from the pulp and strained quite clear. Color one-half a bright rose color with prepared cochineal, leaving the other very pale. When the jelly is nearly cold, drain and when the oranges are filled with alternate stripes of the different colored jelly, each color being allowed to get quite cold before the other is poured in. When they are perfectly cold cut into quarters with a very sharp knife and arrange tastefully on a dish with sprigs of myrtle between.

New England Pie.—Use a deep pie plate. Pare Baldwin or greening apples, core and cut in thin slices. Line your pie plate with pastry, place a layer of apples over this and sprinkle with brown sugar. Then another layer of apple with the sugar and so on in the middle. Over the top dot bits of butter, shake a dash of salt over the whole and a small dash of red pepper, which will give a rich, pungent seasoning that other slices will not. Wet the edge of the lower crust, sprinkle with flour, put on the upper crust and press the edges firmly together. Bake a rich brown.

Parsnip Stew.—Wash and scrape half a dozen parsnips and slice the round way. Put on to cook in just enough water to cover. Add half a dozen thin slices of fat salt pork, two large onions, sliced, half a dozen medium sized potatoes. Stew all together slowly, adding salt, pepper and a dash of cayenne fifteen minutes before serving. When done, add half a cup of cream, a small piece of butter and four enough to thicken the gravy. Serve hot on a platter around boiled salt mackerel or human haddie cooked in milk or broiled.

Puree of Carrots.—Roll enough carrots to make two cupfuls after they have been cut through a sieve. Add three cupfuls of milk, add salt to taste and place over the fire and let come to a boil, then add three small tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with a little cold milk. Stir constantly until it boils, add a tablespoonful of butter, a dash of pepper and take from the fire and serve. A little light brown sugar may be added and a dash of grated nutmeg if you like.

Casserole of Chops.—For a casserole of chops, saute the chops in a pan with minced onions until they are well browned. Then put the chops into the casserole, cover them with two minced peppers, the contents of a bottle of button mushrooms, dried potatoes that have been parboiled and a can of peas drained from their liquor. Moisten the contents with hot water, season with salt and pepper, and cook slowly for about half an hour. Some persons add a tomato.

The White Sewing Machine

Runs Light and Sews Right

The Time for Spring Sewing Is Here

How is Your Sewing Machine?

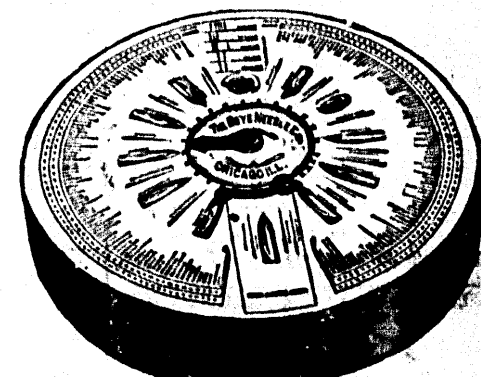

When sewing time comes on you are apt to have your hands full—so full in fact that you do not want interruption of any sort. You are not looking for any break-downs, and it is easy to imagine the state of your feelings when they occur. But how are you going to avoid them? Let us tell you—buy a high grade WHITE.

In buying the WHITE we give you the advantage of choosing from two movements—vibrating or rotary shuttle. The rotary shuttle has the two-in-one stitching feature; in other words, it does lock or chain stitching at the will of the operator. In a sense it is two machines in one. Out of the many twentieth century improvements of the WHITE, such as ball bearings, pinch tension, tension releaser, etc., etc., we call attention to the most striking one, and one that is found on no other machine—the WHITE TENSION INDICATOR. It is the essence of simplicity. It shows the exact state of the tension at a glance. The tension can be changed to a desired point on the Indicator, tightened or loosened by a simple twist of the wrist.

We have a special operator here all the time and will be glad to show you the many advantages of the WHITE. We have sold hundreds of them in and around Jacksonville, that are proving a source of satisfaction and delight to the owner and we want to place one in every home in this county.

BEST OF OIL,
OIL CANS

and all extras for machines at lowest prices.

Needles, Shuttles and Bobbins for use in All Makes of Sewing Machines.

White Machine from $25 and Up,
Others from $12 to $20

We do not bore you with house to house canvassing, that costs lots of money. We sell you machines at bottom prices, giving you the greatest possible value for your money.

Grain Letter.

Chicago, April 27.—Wheat—Sensational crop news continues to come in from all portions of the winter wheat belt. Kansas and other portions of the west, which were hope of the crop, now appear to have been hurt severely also. A large abandoned acreage is reported in Kansas. Nebraska is also injured. Dry weather is complained of but the forecast for Sunday offers some hope. Some good crop reports are coming in from west of the Missouri river, but do not attract much attention. The prospect for winter wheat as a whole now appears to be very little in excess of 350,000,000 with a strong possibility of even less. Spring wheat seeding is making favorable progress, but the small amount of fall plowing and the scarcity of good seed may result in a spring wheat average below normal. Eighteen cents advance in July wheat since we strongly advised buying it and an almost equal advance in September certainly discounts a good deal, and the market is overdue for setback. While we look for much higher prices, profits are certainly tempting and should not be allowed to escape.

Corn—Corn was of course affected to some extent by the sensational wheat advance. New developments were few and the opinion is steadily gaining ground that commercially corn is selling at its full value. Country advice point to the probability of an increased movement as soon as there is any let up in farm work. Abandoned wheat area and delayed oats seeding will result in an enormous corn acreage. After corn planting heavy deliveries are expected and July must bear the burden.

Oats—The sensational market in wheat drew attention from this cereal. We can add little to our frequently reiterated views on the oats situation. Old stocks are well marketed and the high price of other feed will lead to further heavy consumption of oats. Delayed seeding will bring about short acreage and the late harvest. Wheat land, which probably had oats on last year and is reseeded this year will probably not produce satisfactory results. Everything indicates a short crop of oats and the situation justifies higher prices for July and September.

Provisions—Further buying of lard by houses active on the bull side recently advanced prices sharply. Bull speculators are pushing their successes and may bring about further advance. Products is practically equal in price to the raw material. While higher prices are probable, a reaction is overdue.

GOOD HEALTH

How To Keep It

How To Get It Back

In this column we will discuss health and disease and questions of general interest will be answered by responsible members of the regular medical profession. Those not proper for publication will be answered by mail if accompanied by addressed and stamped envelope, provided they do not relate to a disease from which the patient is then suffering. For such diagnosis and advice as to treatment consult your family physician.

Cancer on the Kashmir Abdomen.

The cause of cancer still remains unproven and this disease remains to mercilessly torture the human race and to baffle the most wise. But by slow degrees many important facts have been learned regarding this disease. Many experiments are carried on in nature as well as in the laboratory. One of the most interesting of these is the relative frequency of occurrence of cancer on the abdomen among the Kashmiris. Among millions of the human race cancer of the abdomen would be very rare. It happens that the abdominal skin of the Kashmiris is frequently burned and irritated by the braziers they carry. The deduction seems fair that the usual appearance of cancer in this locality is due to the burning and irritation. In fact no case of cancer of the injured skin of the legs, back or chest has been recorded. The practical deduction from this experiment in nature is to be careful of our scars, to avoid injuries and burns and if subjected to them to have them properly and carefully treated at once. Never neglect a sore, an injury or a burn.

Sprains.

What is a sprain? Formerly a sprain was defined as "A wrench or strain resulting in stretching and laceration of the soft parts without external wound." In the light of scientific progress this definition requires some modification and the following definition seems more true to the facts. "When the muscles in a joint are carried beyond their normal and physiological (natural) limitations owing to some wrenching or twisting form of violence, and the component bones which bind the component bones together are overstretched or torn across such an injury is said to be a strain or sprain." The first important thing about the definition of a sprain is that it does not have anything to do with the bone or with the skin. The next important thing is to make sure that the bone is not injured. It frequently happens that an injury is classed as a sprain, when in fact the small point of bone to which the tendon is attached is broken off. If there is any suspicion that the injury is more than a sprain, according to the above definition an X-ray picture should be made. This will show whether or not the bone has been injured and will altogether change the treatment which should be applied. This is one reason that sprains so frequently name the individual far beyond the usual line and in fact occasionally cause bone injury. No sprain should be looked upon lightly, but should be subjected to a careful examination to determine accurately the character and extent of the injury.

Child Welfare Bureau.

An act creating a child welfare bureau was recently placed, with the president's approval, on our national statute books. This legislation had been earnestly and continuously advocated for several years by progressive men and women and during its pendency in congress no reasonable argument was ever advanced against it. Certain conservative statesmen were shocked that "children were to be treated like pigs," but they were silenced by the report of the more enlightened that as a matter of fact, pigs were being better treated by the federal government than children, since the government has for years gathered and disseminated information concerning the welfare of pigs, but the questions relating to the life, health and welfare of children it has left almost untouched.

The new bureau will be part of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Its duties and functions will be wholly educational. It will make investigations, collect information, classify, digest and publish it and furnish it on application to state, municipal and other authorities, as well as to private bodies or persons. It will study laws and ordinances bearing on child labor, education, play, discipline, juvenile courts and like institutions and all measures or proposed measures designed to protect, reclaim or healthfully develop childhood.

The work of this bureau is assured of success by the appointment of the president of Miss Julia Lathrop of Chicago as its director and chief of the institution and her fitness for the position is quite exceptional.

Miss Lathrop was one among those who succeeded in obtaining the best juvenile court building and detention home for children in the United States. She has been of late years vice president of the Juvenile Protective League, which now, since the county has assumed the control and payment of the probation officers, devotes itself to preventive work of all kinds. She is also chairman of the Juvenile Psychopathic Institute, an organization which undertakes the scientific study of juvenile defects and is pledged to the principle that a physician as well as a judge is needed in every court dealing with children.

M. E. CONFERENCE TO BE HELD THIS WEEK

Quadrennial Gathering to Be Held in Minneapolis—Rev. J. W. Miller to Be One of Illinois Delegation.

The whole Methodist church is interested in the quadrennial gathering of representatives from almost every nation on earth. England and Canada are the only countries where the Methodist Episcopal church has no churches. In those countries Wesleyan Methodism has the field. The general conference meets this year in the Auditorium at Minneapolis. It is composed of an equal number of ministers and laymen. No conference is without representation, however small it may be. The largest delegation is from this, the Illinois conference which sends this year nine clergymen and nine laymen. This is due of course to the fact that the Illinois conference has the largest number of clergymen in it. The first general conference with delegates was held in 1812. Laymen were admitted first at the general conference in 1872.

Laymen were admitted in equal numbers with clergymen in the general conference of 1900. The coming general conference will be the 26th in number and will have 819 delegate members. The church has twenty-one bishops who are general superintendents, three of whom are retired, and seven missionary bishops. The business of the conference will largely pass through the hands of sixteen standing committees before it appears on the floor of the conference. In these committees great good is done by men of insight and breadth of vision. It is not always the members who take up the most time on the floor of the general conference who do the most good for the church, but the men who share the actions of committees may be the most valuable factor. There are sixty-one different vocations represented among the delegates. District superintendents lead with 179, pastors follow with 128, lawyers and merchants tie with 45 each, college presidents 38, bankers 36, manufacturers 35, teachers 27, editors 22, housewives 10. It takes about an hour to call the roll and that will occur next Wednesday morning. First the bishops who have died during the quadrennium, then the bishops living, the missionary bishops then the members, who will stand by the delegations until their names are called. A change in the date of holding the general conference has been voted on by all conferences during the quadrennium and has carried by the required two thirds vote and hereafter the general conference will meet on the first secular day of May each four years. For many years it has met on the first Wednesday of May. The delegation from the Illinois conference of Rev. W. J. Davidson, Rev. Chris. Gale, Rev. H. C. Gibbs, Rev. Theodore Kemp, Rev. John W. Miller, Rev. E. L. Fletcher, Rev. J. F. Shipp, Rev. Robert Stephens, Rev. J. W. Vance, Laymen H. R. Crawford, J. M. Glasco, S. A. D. Harry, T. B. Hopkins, Jas. Loar, T. E. Orr, O. T. Purl, D. S. Shellabarger, G. S. Tarbox. Jacksonville will be represented by Rev. J. W. Miller, pastor of Grace. This is the third time Rev. Mr. Miller has been chosen as a delegate to represent his conference. The delegation will meet in Chicago Monday evening and make the trip together on the same sleeper, reaching Minneapolis Tuesday about 11 a. m. This will be one of the most interesting general conferences. There are many vital questions coming up for consideration.

DUNBAR RECITAL.

The following program will be given at the Dunbar recital, which will take place Thursday evening, May 2, at the A. M. E. church: Instrumental solo—Miss Eva Triplett.

Life of Paul Lawrence Dunbar—Mrs. Ellen Coen. Saxophone solo, "Holy City"—Carl King. "Discovered," by Dunbar—Miss Corinne Robinson. Vocal solo—Mr. C. McReynolds. "The Party"—Mrs. L. L. Kennebrew.

Cornet solo—Eugene Nasby. Antebellum Sermon—Miss Jessie Allen. Trombone solo, "Fantasia"—James Ellison. How Lucy Backslid—Mrs. A. Sharp. Reading—Miss Cleota Dealy. La Casca—Miss Margaret De Witte.

PRENTICE SCHOOL.

The Prentice school, of which Miss Vallie Ogle is the teacher, will close Friday, May 3, when a picnic will be held and short program will be given in the afternoon. All friends of the school are invited to be present.

WEST END SLUGGERS WON.

The West End Heavy Sluggers defeated the South End Skunks Saturday afternoon in baseball by a score of 22 to 2. The work of Felix Farrell, captain of the Sluggers, and Robinson, the star pitcher, was of the gilt edge order, the latter allowing but two hits. Fred Lucas was captain of the Skunks. The members of the winning team were Mark Robinson, J. R. Felix Farrell, John Strawn, John Ames, Aurelius Vossler and Thompson Brady.

W. T. Badgett, member Coleman Post No. 500, Mt. Vernon, Ill., says he was long bothered with his kidneys. "Their action was irregular and caused much distress, with a constant dull dragging pain in my back. After taking Foley Kidney Pills my kidneys have been restored to normal action and the pains dispelled. I recommend them to my friends and fellow comrades." City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

The Cheseldine house at Winchester, Ill., for sale. I shall be glad to talk with any one interested in same. J. C. Lathrop, 121 Prospect St. Ill. phone 70-795.

THE NEWEST STYLE.

Successor of the Famous Hobble Skirt.

DRESSY GOWN WITH PANNIER EFFECT.

Women who balked at the hobble skirt are grasping with scarcely less intense emotion at its successor, the bunched out pannier skirt.

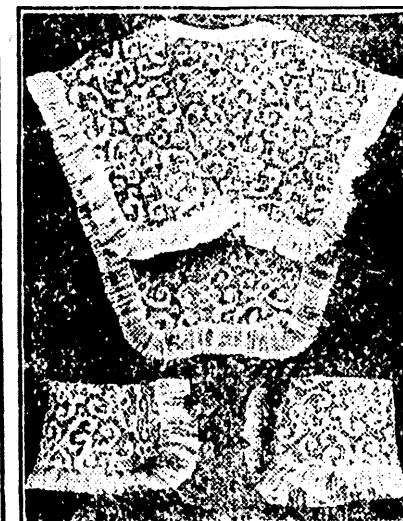

All sorts of bewildering and astonishing comments have been made by the fashion makers about this style. Some of them say it reminds them of the pictures of the bodiced and panniered skirts worn in England in the days of Queen Elizabeth.

Experts say the new skirt conceals the lines of the figure so provokingly that it would be hard to guess without scales within fifty pounds of the actual weight of the wearer.

The pannier effect is conservatively treated in the smart gown illustrated, which is of smoke gray satin meteor. The back jabot that forms a shawl cape is very unique.

Summer Belongings of Net and Lace.

The simple summer frock of dimity or linen is made distinctive and out of the ordinary by handmade accessories of the type pictured here. The fichu with a net trim has a net bow at the front. This back view illustrates how the lace and trim are illustrated with a knot of the net at the back of the waist line. The collar and cuffs of all over net lace are finished with plaqueting of point d'esprit.

COLLAR AND CUFF SET OF NET LACE.

For Bridge Enthusiasts. We have grown used to having a pad for the telephone to which a pencil is fastened by a flexible chain. Now appears an invention that will appeal to the distracted hostess on bridge, secure with pencil fastened to it.

This consists of a leather pad with corners like those used on a blotter, under which the bridge tablet is easily slipped for frequent removal. At the top of the pad is a brass or nickel standard, with chain attachment for the pencil. It is so flexible that the pencil can be used at any angle, yet springs into place when not needed.

Any one who knows the trick pencils have of getting lost at critical moments will appreciate this convenience. Another useful novelty for a hostess who entertains much at cards is a small silver pencil sharpener. This, having a ring at one end, can be attached to the pencil standard on the pad to save scurrying for a knife or new pencil when points break or get blunted.

Styles in Shoes. Judging from the shoes displayed at the spring openings, the Cuban or military heel is as popular as ever and will be worn on all occasions when it isn't discarded in favor of the Louis Quinze. The latter is little used for street wear, although it is considered the smartest model for every variety of evening slipper.

The short vamp and the medium round toe are out of fashion. The modish foot must be dressed in a manner to make it appear long, narrow and highly arched, and the woman whose feet are short and chubby must buy shoes a couple of sizes too long, stuff out the toes and wear some sort of arch supporter to increase the apparent height of the instep.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES

The Department of Expression is being called on to furnish judges for a great many of the contests being held in various parts of central Illinois in the high school associations.

Miss Amanda Kidder, the head of the Department, was a judge in the contest of the Mason county high schools, held in Havana Saturday, April 27. While at Havana she was the guest of Miss Harriet Kyle.

The plans for May Day are rapidly being developed. As usual, it will be different from any ever given at the college. Our plan is now to have it about the middle of May and also a little later in the afternoon, than heretofore given.

Another one of the events of the year will be the Phi Nu play, which is to occur on May 6. They will present "Hazel Kilex." The admission for this play will be 35 cents.

The pupils of Mrs. Hartmann will give their recital on Monday, April 29, in Music hall, at 8 p. m. All friends and students of the college as well as those interested are cordially invited.

The recital given last Thursday by Miss Frances English was the largest attended of any given this year. Her program was well chosen, and the numbers were given with ability. Her work as a student in expression has been most satisfactory.

President Harker spent last Tuesday and Wednesday in Lewistown, where he attended the ministerial meeting of that district.

Mrs. Vera Clark and daughter, Yvona of Mount Airy, were guests at the college Thursday. While here Mrs. Clark made arrangements for her daughter to enter the college as a student next September.

Miss Louisa Loveday was a judge in the contest in declamation, held in Virginia and Ashland last week, and on Friday, the 26th, was a judge in the contest held in Griggsville.

Next Friday the dean, Miss Martha Weaver, goes to Springfield to be a judge in a contest held under the auspices of the Corn Belt association. This association is composed of some of the leading high schools of central Illinois.

Miss Myrtle Walker, pupil of Mr. Donald Swarthout, will give her graduating recital next Thursday afternoon, May 2, at 4:15 in Music hall.

The Woman's College Guild met in Harker hall Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m. A most pleasant time was enjoyed by all present and several talks were given by a number of the members.

Miss Mary Watson gave her senior dinner Saturday Economics department. Miss Watson has been quite successful in her work and has secured a position to teach this work for the next school year.

Miss Helen Jones will sing a solo in Centenary M. E. church today at the morning service.

"Woman's Work is Never Done."

It is the faithful woman in the home, who does the cooking, sweeping, dusting, washing and ironing, ambitious to keep her home as neat as a pin, and often having two or three children who require care and attention, who calls for our sympathy. Overwork is the result. Outraged nature asserts in time and female trouble appears.

Such women should remember that Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the exact medicine they need when their strength is overtaxed and female weakness and derangements make life a burden. For nearly forty years it has been the standard remedy for such troubles.

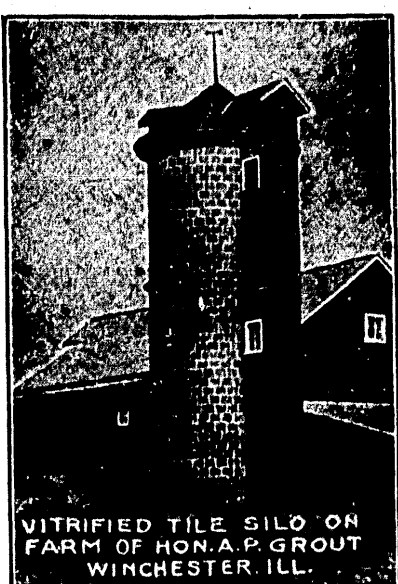

FOR FAITHFUL SERVICE.

Charles L. French, state agent of the Springfield Fire and Motor Insurance company, has just been presented with a handsome gold watch fob, with heavy gold pendant bearing on one side, the seal of the insurance Co., splendidly done, and on the reverse is engraved the following:

"Presented to Charles L. French by officers of the western department of the Springfield Fire and Marine Insurance Co., in appreciation of long and faithful service."

It is a handsome testimonial of which Mr. French may well be proud. The men with whom Mr. French has been associated for the past 25 years have all been in the service of the company for many years.

Before buying that porch furniture see the Jacksonville Box Co. All prices from $3.50 up.

Silo Facts

In determining the kind of a silo to build, remember that an "A. P. Groat Vitrified Tile Silo" will not rot or go to staves and that it will keep the silage perfectly. The "A. P. G. V. T. Silo" is practically a large stoneware jar. Let us send you booklets giving full particulars regarding the cost of this Silo. Yours for the asking. Address

I. W. C. GUILD.

First Regular Meeting of New College Organization Was Held Saturday.

The first regular meeting of the Illinois Woman's College Guild was held at the Woman's college Saturday afternoon. After a short business meeting a most enjoyable program was given. Dean Weaver spoke to the Guild about the attitude of the college towards such an organization. She emphasized the fact that the hearty co-operation of those interested in the welfare of the school was most encouraging, assisting as it does in the upbuilding of college loyalty. Mrs. Gay rendered a solo in her beautiful voice.

Dr. Post then spoke of the splendid growth of the school, its high standards and its important place in the community. His address was followed by a most enthusiastic talk by Dr. McCarthy, who told of the prominent place the Woman's college occupied, not only in the life of Jacksonville but in the life of all communities where there are Woman's college graduates and students.

Mrs. Pither next spoke of the work of the Guild and suggested they begin working for the growth of the library. Her suggestion met with the hearty approval of all the members, for the library is source of interest to all connected with the institution.

A MOTHER'S CARE.

A careful mother will not give her child a medicine without knowing it is pure, contains no opiates, and has healing and curative qualities. Such a medicine is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, and all affections of the throat, chest and lungs. Best and safest for children and grown persons. Contains no opiates. City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

STORIES FROM "JUNGLE BOOK"

Miss George Lutkemeyer of the public library told some very interesting stories the past week from Kipling's "Jungle Book" at the Third ward school. The series of stories begun by Miss Lutkemeyer will be continued this week on Tuesday. She was heard by the pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth and seventh grades.

Miss Alice Loneragan, who is a nurse at Our Savior's hospital, is spending a few days vacation at her home near Woodson.

ERECTED NEW HOTEL.

John Ellis has recently erected a new hotel in Quincy. It contains 40 rooms which are furnished in a splendid manner. The hotel is considered one of the best in that section of the country and both Mr. and Mrs. Ellis are proud of their new hotel. Mr. Ellis is a brother of Wm. T. Ellis of this city.

LIBRARIAN AT WINCHESTER.

Miss Isabel Henderson, who has been doing work at the Jacksonville library the past six weeks, has returned to her home in Winchester and soon is to become librarian in the Carnegie library at that place. Miss Henderson did not take the apprentice course here but spent her time profitably in observing the methods and in doing some real practical work.

THAT BAD COLD.

Vapor Treatment Surely Does Clean Out That Stuffed Uphead in Record Breaking Time.

Don't try to break up a cold with dangerous stomach disturbing drugs. Get directly to the inflamed membrane by breathing HYOMEL (pronounce it High-o-mel). Get a bottle for 50 cents at Coover & Shreve's and try this rapid and economical treatment that thousands are using.

Into a bowl of boiling water pour a teaspoonful of HYOMEL, cover head and bowl with a towel, and breathe deep into the lungs the heat-vapor that arises. Breathe this vapor for five or ten minutes until the head feels fine and clear, then go to bed and sleep soundly until morning. No cocaine or opium or harmful drugs in HYOMEL. It is guaranteed to end catarrh, or money back.

In the banking house of Dunlap, Russell & Co. is a sample of what modern art will accomplish. During the cold weather the builders of the structure warmed the cement and applied it to the brick and a piece in the bank shows where the brick broke before the cement gave away.

Charles Barrigar, Clayton, Ill., knows the value of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, as a quick and sure help for croup. He writes: "My boy had membranous croup, the medicine given did not help him any, but by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, it soon pulled him through. We always keep it in the house." City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

WILL RESUME OLD POSITION.

Charles Samples, general foreman of the local street car system, expects to resume his duties again Monday. Mr. Samples, it will be remembered fell off the top of a car on the square the 29th of February, and had a narrow escape from death.
